The attendance upon prayer meeting at Schoolfield Methodist church has more than doubled during the last few weeks. On last Wednesday evening there was a full house with the exception of two or three seats. It is anticipated by many that prayer services will soon have to be held in the church auditorium to accommodate the crowd. The pastor, Rev. T. Roy Jarrett, says that he has never had better attendance upon prayer services anywhere than he has at Schoolfield.

YOUR GARDEN

GARDEN SCHEDULE

There are a number of crops, such as snap beans, lettuce, radishes and beets which should be planted at intervals throughout the season in order to insure a continuous supply.

But do not set in the open vegetable beds such as peppers, squashes, eggplants and peppers until the soil has been thoroughly warmed, because these varieties thrive best in hot or fairly warm weather.

Snap beans can be planted as many as five-times during the season.

Remember that late planting or transplanting in the garden gives harder plants and prolongs the season of usefulness.

Don't take risks in the open too soon. While danger from possible frost exists, much loss of your wintering, nothod and coldframe. That's what such things are for.

They'll help you beat any tricks Old Man Winter tries to play in the way of unexpected return visits.

The following information, based on the needs of a family of four, will enable the beginner with a small garden to plant correctly:

Turnips—Plant 1-2 inch deep; rows one foot apart, plants from 2 to 6 inches apart. About 60 feet is required for family of 4.

Tomatoes—Plant 1-2 inch deep; rows 3 feet apart; plants 3 feet apart. About 90 feet required for family of 4.

Lettuce—Plant 1-4 inch, rows from 12 to 18 inches apart, plants from 8 to 10 inches apart for heading. Lettuce is a particular food for slugs, snails and pests. Hence great care is required in raising it successfully.

Mount Vernon Methodist Church. Rev. Samuel T. Senter, D. D., pastor. Morning worship 11 o'clock. Sermon subject, "The Incurable Optimist." Evening worship 7:30, sermon subject, "The Indispensable Man." The pastor, Dr. Senter, will occupy the pulpit at both services. J. Carson Watson, superintendent of Sunday school. Main Street Methodist Church. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning subject, "Be Prepared"—a sermon to Boy Scouts. Evening subject, "How Much Do You Weigh in God's Balance?" Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. A. D. Keen, Supt. Peabody Bible Class for Men, Chas. G. Evans, teacher. Epworth League at 6:30 p. m.

Lutheran Church of the Ascension, Sutherland avenue. J. W. Link, pastor. Sunday school opens at 9:45 a. m. The theme for the 11 o'clock morning service is "Jesus Tempted," and that for the 3 o'clock evening service, "The Holiness of the Father." The midweek lenten service is held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. You will find a cordial welcome at all of our services.

Calvary Methodist. Rev. Joseph S. Gheshary pastor. Sunday school 9:30. H. M. Martin, Supt. Bible class for men, taught by J. J. Filippin. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the pastor. Epworth League at 6:45 p. m. 6:45 p. m. Mrs. Grace Turberville, leader. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 8 p. m. Thursday afternoon Tea 3:30 to 4:30. In the Filippin Bible class room. Hostesses, Mrs. H. E. Ferguson, Mrs. H. E. Lumsden, and Mrs. Lucy Abbott.

Good Crowd Hears Lecture Last Night

Fifty-two persons who are evidently interested in Psychology were present Friday evening to hear Gertrude Alma Tiffany and Alice Powell Strong in their opening lecture on the subject in the Masonic Temple. They will deliver a series of eight free lectures on Practical Psychology and its application to successful living, continuing through Friday evening of next week. The lectures will begin at 8:15 o'clock each evening when it will begin at 8:30.

The ladies of Danville seem to be more interested than the men and there were about twice as many in attendance. Mrs. Tiffany and Mrs. Strong defined Psychology and enumerated some of the results which may be obtained by living in accordance with its principles, setting forth the great truth that every one can if they will, be happy and successful in life, provided they apply the principles and teachings of Practical Psychology in exercising the proper care of their bodies and minds, designating two simple things that are necessary to the development of physical strength and mentality, namely, correct breathing and forming the habit of drinking plenty of pure cold water. According to their prescription, people who desire to be healthy, happy and pretty should drink at least two quarts or eight glasses of water every day. Another requisite to the development of strong physical bodies is the necessity of masticating food before it is swallowed, and those present were admonished to chew their food as none of them had been equipped with gizzards. The Psychology slogan is: "I'm feeling fine and dandy, why shouldn't I be?"

The personality of the speakers is simply wonderful and the lectures are most interesting, as was evidenced by the close attention of the audience last evening. Any one who is interested in the subject will find it well worth their time to attend these lectures. Both Mrs. Tiffany and Mrs. Strong are graduates of the McCullum School of Practical Psychology and are bringing these lectures to the people of the larger cities. Those who have a desire to help promote the study of Psychology are given an opportunity to co-operate by being permitted to make free will offerings.

CONFIRM GREW'S NOMINATION
(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 7.—The nomination of Joseph C. Grew, of New Hampshire, to be under secretary of state was confirmed today by the Senate.

Grandmother Knew
There Was Nothing So Good for Coughs, Colds and Croup as Mustard
But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders.
Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.
Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest (to help prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 60c jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Major Farrington Pleases Children

Harry Wadd Farrington, poet and lecturer, widely known as the author of "Rough and Brown," "Cher Ami," and the Harvard Prize Hymn "Our Christ," made his debut in Danville yesterday under the auspices of the Danville Young Men's Christian Association, addressing four audiences of public school children during the day and speaking on the subject "What the World War Did to Me" at the called meeting of the American Legion last night.

The pupils of the grammar schools and the city high school were captivated by Mr. Farrington's rendition of his poems "Cher Ami," "Birds," "Early Shannon" and "Who Won the War." The children were intensely interested in the story of the part played in the World War by the animals and birds. These narratives told with strength and in the poems mentioned above were of great inspirational value, driving home in a very forceful way lessons of sympathy, fortitude, sacrifice, loyalty and patriotism.

Mr. Farrington is a man of wide experience, having played football seven years, graduated from Syracuse, Boston and Harvard Universities, lectured on philosophy in Harvard University, and having served with strength and with the French army during the World War as to have honored with a life commission in the Tenth Cuirassiers.

Today (Saturday) Mr. Farrington will address the students of the Masonic Institute at 8:40 a. m. and on Sunday at 3:30 p. m., will address a Y. M. C. A. meeting for men and older boys on the subject "Washington and Wilson." (The Y. M. C. A. will be closing its address at the evening service of the First Baptist Church, the subject of his sermon being "Following the Star.")

The captains, division commanders and other officers of the Y. M. C. A. Membership Campaign held an enthusiastic meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at five o'clock yesterday (Friday) afternoon. The teams were reported to be already enlisted almost to maximum strength and all indications pointing to a most successful campaign. A few captains did not yet have their full quota of workers enlisted and it was decided to give them a few more days of grace before publishing the complete roster of workers.

It was decided that the opening supper of the campaign should be held next Friday, March 14th at 6:30 o'clock. At this meeting the assignments will be made to the workers and the campaign will be on in earnest. The first report will be made the following Monday, March 17th. General Campaign Commander, M. O. Nelson, expressed himself as feeling very good over the prospects of the campaign. An interesting feature of this year's campaign will be a contest with the Lynchburg Y. M. C. A. which will be conducting its campaign at the same time.

INFANT IS BURIED
The funeral of Melvin L. Lywood Hatchett, two months old child of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hatchett was conducted on Thursday from the paternal residence, 323 Riverview street by Rev. G. W. M. Taylor. Interment being made in Leemont cemetery. The child succumbed on Wednesday from pneumonia which developed rapidly.

MRS. JENNIE EVANS DIES
NEAR KENTUCK, VA.
Mrs. Jennie B. Evans, widow of John Evans and a native of Pittsylvania county, died yesterday at 10:30 a. m. at her home near Kentuck and after an illness of about two weeks. The fatal termination of her illness came as a shock to her loved ones and friends. Mrs. Evans was an estimable lady and was universally known in the vicinity where she had spent most of her life.

Deceased is survived by two sons, Messrs. C. T. and D. R. Evans of Pittsylvania; and J. H. Evans, of Lynchburg, Va.; and two daughters, Mrs. T. H. Booth of this county, and Mrs. D. T. Allen, of Danville. Funeral services will take place from the home this (Saturday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, being conducted by the Rev. T. E. Peters.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Back Weak and Painful. Mrs. Miller Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rotan, Texas.—"I am writing to let you know how I have been benefited by taking your medicine. After my second baby was born my back was weak and hurt me continually, so I thought I'd try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had read so much about where it had helped so many women. I had been bothered with my back for over a year, and it would hurt me until I could not do my work, which is keeping house for three and cooking and washing dishes. I tell all my friends to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. You may use this testimonial if it will help any one."

Mrs. C. R. MILLER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 76, Rotan, Texas.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 121,000 replies were received, and 26 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

STREET CAR, TRUCK AND WAGON MIXED IN CURIOUS CASE

A curious double-header sort of traffic accident occurred at 5:13 p. m. yesterday on the street car bridge over the river in which fortunately no one sustained serious hurts. Traffic was blocked for quite a while, however, when a partially wrecked horse-drawn vehicle, a slightly injured motor truck and a double-truck trolley were being untangled and the facts being given the same treatment.

A one-horse cart or wagon driven and owned by Richard Tucker, who gave his home address as Glenview street, backed on to the street car track despite the driver's efforts to make the animal move in the other direction where lay safety. The trolley car, No. 67, in charge of Conductor W. A. Garner, unable to anticipate that the wagon would be backed upon the track, struck the wagon and smashed the left rear wheel and injured another, and also jammed the vehicle into H. C. Partlett's delivery truck driven by Russell Rucker, bent the fender and otherwise slightly damaged the truck.

Fortunately nobody was hurt, the way was finally cleared and traffic was resumed. Tucker sustained the most serious loss in the de-wheeling of his wagon.

ALLEGED WHISKEY RUNNER IS CAUGHT

Bill Higgs said to have been long sought by the county police as a suspected bootlegger, was captured yesterday morning near Stony Mills with five gallons of the fluid aboard his Studebaker machine. The capture was made by Officers L. B. Mills, Ed Mills and B. E. Thompson.

The officers had gone to watch for another car. In a short time, a Studebaker drove into view and the driver was hailed. A search soon resulted and two five gallon tin cans of liquor were found. Higgs was taken before Judge B. W. Deddon for a preliminary hearing. He was held for the grand jury under bond of $500.

According to insurance tables, there are 52 persons in the United States between the ages of 100 and 107.

Buicks Serve Indefinitely

So often the remark is made, "Buicks never wear out". The service record of Buick cars throughout the country fully justifies this statement. No matter how many years a Buick owner drives his car or how many miles he travels, his Buick continues to perform faithfully and economically. Why not use Buick transportation yourself? Any Buick dealer stands ready to give you a demonstration.

'FRISCO UNDERWORLD LOOKING FOR A GRIM DUEL BETWEEN 'KINGS'

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 8.—San Francisco's mysterious underworld, of which there are none more deadly or devious in its ways expected shortly to reverberate to the cannon of automatics as a grim duel to death as fought beneath its surface. And when the acid smoke of battle was cleared away, it was probably will whisper to each other that ancient salutation which has been handed down through generations, "the king is dead—long live the king."

Somewhere in the dark and darkest and furthest recesses of the local underworld, today—armed to the teeth, and in constant fear for his life is "Black Tony" Farinaglin, for the last year hailed "king" of California's illicit dry dealers and at present under eleven federal indictments for alleged wholesale narcotic vending.

Stalking mysteriously, but always secretly hidden through these same catacombs of vice and sordidness, intent upon finding and wreaking vengeance upon the man in hiding, is "Bad Joe" Clancy, former king of drug dealers, recently done self-elimination from justice "Two Gun man and former friend of Black Tony."

The vengeance which "Bad Joe" seeks to visit upon "Black Tony" is to an alleged "double-cross."

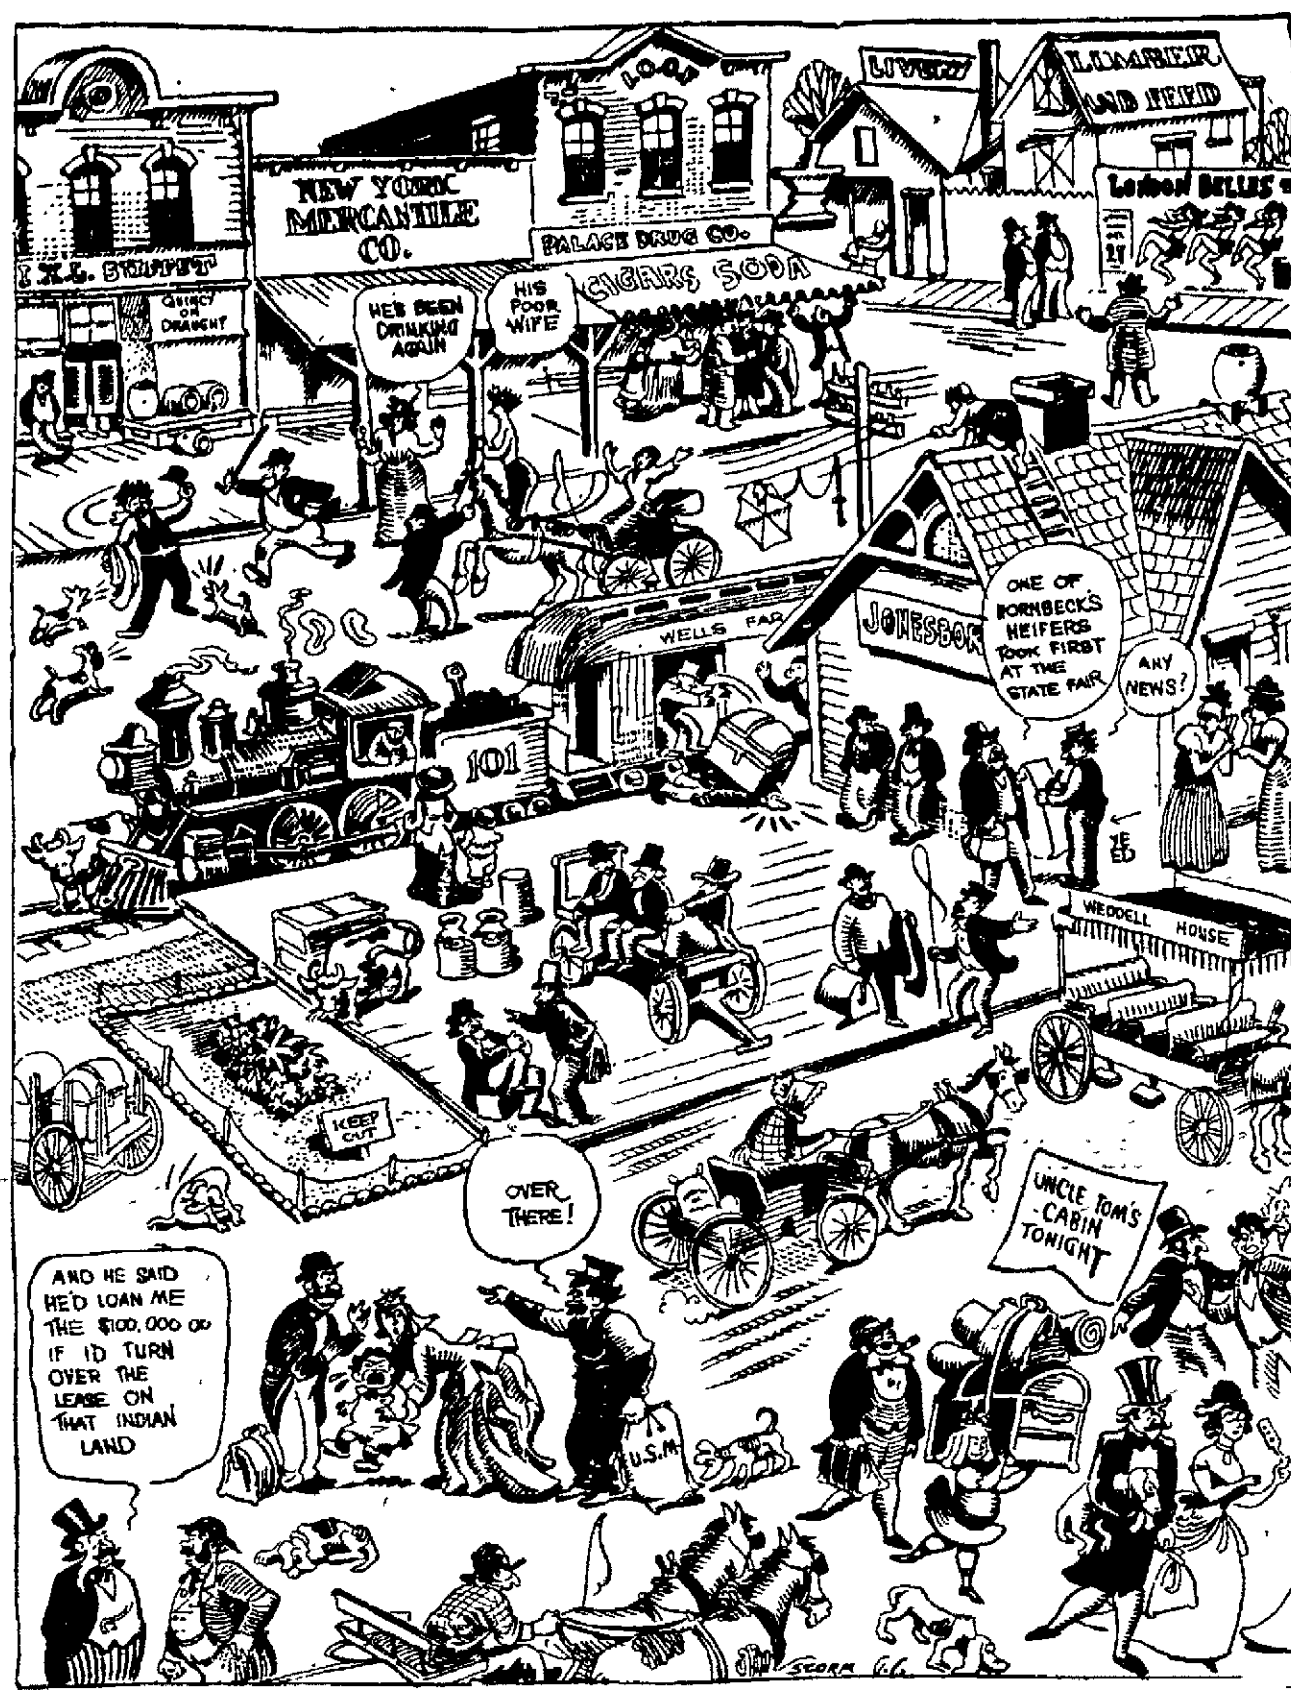

A year ago, Clancy, richest and more powerful of drug dealers and underworld ruler, was convicted in federal courts here on six charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act. Faced with a total of fifty-two years in prison, he jumped $17,000 cash bail and fled to Mexico City where he set up a saloon and gambling house.

From the other side of the border he wrote his attorney that he had fled to the United States, a "trusted friend" that he had turned over a deed to a $72,000 apartment house and $15,000 in cash to this same friend, and that the apartment house was to be transferred to a brother in St. Louis, and the $15,000 paid to his attorney. The trusted friend was Black Tony.

Neither apartment house or money even was turned over. Suit was instituted to recover both but nothing could be proven. It was then—beyond the Mexican border which he did not dare cross—that Clancy wrote some letters to his brother in the United States and settle with Black Tony.

A month ago Clancy sold his saloon and gambling house in Mexico and dropped mysteriously out of sight. When word reached here, Black Tony went into hiding. He has not appeared since. Federal agents express the belief that Clancy is here, hidden by loyal friends of the underworld—also charged he fled back to Mexico and safety he will "get" Black Tony or Black Tony will get him.

THREE REPORTED DEAD IN KY. FIRE

(By The Associated Press.)
JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., March 7.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a central business block of Elkhorn City, Kentucky, this afternoon, and three persons lost their lives, according to a report which reached here tonight.

According to the reports which were brought here through the country telegraphic and telephone communication with Elkhorn City, had been seriously injured. The fire broke out in the line of communication of the town. The town has no water supply and the fire burned itself out, according to the report, an open lot checking the progress of the flames.

Two daughters of Orville Rowe, six and eight years of age respectively, were burned to death, according to the report, while a young man, Bob Ratliff, also lost his life. Four business houses, a hotel and the post-office were destroyed.

The three victims were in the hotel at the time of the fire. First reports indicated that Ratliff had been burned to death but later reports indicated that there had been some trouble, and that he had been killed and that the hotel had been fired to cover up the crime. At a late hour tonight it was impossible to clear up the conflicting reports.

Ratliff and the two children were on the second floor of the hotel at the time of the fire, it was said. The mother of the children with her baby was on the first floor and both escaped injury.

PLAN JEFFERSON MEMORIAL

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—Plans to create a national memorial at Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, will go on despite the death of former Congressman Jefferson M. Levy, whose family had owned the home for almost ninety years. Stuart G. Gibbons, president of the said memorial foundation, declared today.

Before Mr. Levy's death he said, "legal title had been taken over by the foundation under a partial purchase agreement, subject to payment of the additional installment payments."

The foundation, he added, was attempting to raise by popular subscription the money to pay off the installment and to create a $500,000 maintenance fund.

AUSTIN CARTER HELD FOR TRIAL, BOND DENIED HIM

(Special To The Bee)
REIDSVILLE, N. C., Mar. 8.—W. Austin Carter, former insurance agent of Danville and for several months held in Wentworth jail on the charge of killing his wife and wounding other persons at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, was held here today for trial. The grand jury of Rockingham county which will meet at Wentworth Bond was declined and he was remanded back to jail.

The hearing in the recorder's court this morning consumed about an hour and a half. Less than one hundred people were present. Five witnesses testified, all of these members of the Moore family and all of them actual eyewitnesses at the beginning of the shooting affray, though none of them saw Carter shoot his wife, the last person on whom he turned his gun. Recorder I. R. Humphries presided at the hearing and a stenographic record was taken of all the evidence.

The defense offered no witnesses, but Carter's counsel followed with rigid attention the recital of witnesses for the State who gave for the first time their story under oath.

After the State rested, Carter was held without bail for the grand jury of Rockingham which meets in May.

The appearance of the accused made an impression on all who were present. He showed no fear of the ordeal and was outwardly so composed and collected that the spectators discussed the probability of the defense moving, before the actual trial by jury, for the appointment of a board of aliens to examine Carter as to his mentality. No indication of this has been given here, but well within the realm of possibility.

The story told by the witnesses was substantially this, that on the Sunday of the shooting, Carter approached the Moore home in Reidsville and created a disturbance, making threats against members of the household. The Reidsville police handled him for this and after arranging his bond on the misdemeanor charge, he drove his car away. He returned, at witnesses said, about seven o'clock. The members of the family were in the living room and Carter came in without knocking and without opening his lips he began shooting. He first shot John Price, two bullets entering his body. Price, his brother-in-law, went through the window. Carter then shot Mrs. Price through the thigh. While the shots were being fired, the room quickly emptied. Mrs. Carter, with a child in her arms, rose petrified from the chair in which she was sitting. Husband and wife were speechless when the shooting ended. Then came another shot and Mrs. Carter was found dead, having collapsed in the chair with the child still in her arms. No words passed during the shooting. The State will endeavor to make out a case of first degree murder against Carter, it is said.

Austin Carter is 52 years of age and was born and reared in Ruffin, N. C. He once was an insurance agent in Danville. On two occasions, it is said, he has been separated from his wife. His wife was Mrs. Gertrude Moore Carter aged 35 and a first cousin of the accused. She also lived part of her life in Ruffin. She had two small children and it was the interest in these, Carter indicated while a prisoner in the Danville jail, that paved the way to the shooting.

In the fatal shooting in which Mrs. Carter was killed, John Price, 35, was wounded under the thigh and his condition was despaired of for some time. He recovered however, and is about again. Mrs. John Price, aged 30, was shot in the leg but soon recovered. Mrs. Moore had a narrow escape in the shooting affray one bullet passing under her arm. When Carter began firing she attacked him, held his arm thus deflecting his aim and saving the lives of her children and herself.

The episode at Reidsville was preceded several hours by another episode in which Carter is said to have approached the home of the Moores and to have threatened to shoot them. He was arrested at that time but was released and placed under a peace bond for his appearance in the recorder's court on the following morning.

BODY OF PAT MORAN TO BE TAKEN HOME TODAY, TEAM MOURNS HIS DEATH

(By The Associated Press.)
ORLANDO, Fla., Mar. 8.—The body of Pat Moran, pilot of the Cincinnati Reds, lay in state here today before removal to a late afternoon train to take him northward on his last trip home.

Moran, with his wife, two children and team mates at his bedside, died yesterday following an illness of four days duration. He layed in unconsciousness Thursday night, and while his wife and children hurried to his side, life slowly ebbed, until yesterday, after a faint smile flickered across his face at the mention of his wife's name, he passed on. His only a short time before he died.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Fitchburg, Mass. Moran's birthplace. Mrs. Moran and her two children, accompanying the body, were to meet at Jacksonville, where Moran's brother had signified his intention of meeting them.

Ivy Wingo and George Harper were appointed as representatives of the Cincinnati club to accompany the Morans to Jacksonville. Immediately following their chief's death, the Reds went into mourning for 48 hours.

Moran arrived at training headquarters last week and on Monday suffered a general breakdown. He was taken to a hospital and four doctors were in constant attendance, fighting the disease, announced as acute nephritis. Only medical skill and the application of stimulants kept Moran alive until his wife reached his side. Mrs. Moran, when informed of her husband's condition, was arrested immediately and arrived here at 4:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Moran's death, teammates said, came when he was looking forward to a successful season, with the hope of repeating the victory of 1919 when Moran's leadership captured the National League pennant and the world's series.

Moran was one of the premier catchers in the game in his playing days.

As a manager he was successful. His players considered his word law and cheerfully obeyed him. His baseball record dates back 27 years, when he played at Lyons, N. J. He broke into the major leagues in 1901 when he joined the Boston Nationals.

Pres. Coolidge Endorses Move Cut Income Tax

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 7.—Endorsement by President Coolidge today of the proposal to remove the provision for a 25 per cent reduction in personal income taxes payable this year from the revenue bill, and enact it in a joint resolution before March 15 when the first installment of the new tax law will be in effect, stirred up a new tax fight in the House.

Republican organization leaders indicated they would force action on the proposal, while opposition developed in the ranks of both parties.

Democrats characterized the move as preliminary to a presidential veto of the revenue bill itself and many Republicans pressed for the passage of this provision out of the bill, it would be subject to delay in enactment.

Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee—while the first action must be taken on such a resolution, delayed presenting the proposal to the committee today and declared he had heard so much opposition he felt that it was little hope of setting it through in time for the March 15 payments.

Advocates of the Mellon rates, which were eliminated from the revenue bill by the House, made known an intention, however, to force action, some frankly expressing the hope that the reduction provision could be eliminated from the bill so that it would thus be left more open to vote.

President Coolidge supported the argument of the Treasury in asking the action on the ground that it would eliminate confusion resulting from refund checks which would be paid after the first installments have been paid.

Meanwhile the Senate Finance Committee, which yesterday approved the flat reductions proposal, got down to work on the revenue bill.

In order to permit further study of the income rate schedules which are in the first part of the measure, Chairman Smead passed over these sections and took up the administrative features of the bill.

THE DAY IN WASHINGTON

President Coolidge proclaimed an increase in tariff rates on wheat.

Attorney General Daugherty returned to Washington without indicating any intention of resigning.

Subpoenas were served on a number of witnesses by the Senate Committee in the Daugherty investigation.

Paid up insurance was agreed upon by the House Ways and Means Committee as a major provision in the bonus bill.

The first test vote on Muscle Shoals in the House showed a majority of those voting in amendments to favor the Ford bill.

Representative Theodore E. Burton, notified the administration that he preferred to remain in Congress to help secure the navy.

President Coolidge, it was announced, favors the proposal in Congress for a joint resolution to make effective a 25 per cent. reduction in the 1923 taxes.

OFFICIALS SILENT ON STATUS OF DAUGHERTY

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Attorney General Daugherty's return to Washington has brought no outward sign of a new and more acute crisis in his cabinet status, but the feeling persists in high quarters that his retirement is imminent.

The undercurrent of expectancy edging around the attorney general received no stimulus from his activities yesterday. He came back from Atlanta on a nine day trip apparently in better health than when he left, attended the regular cabinet meeting, joined other officials in silence about his status, and went to work on the legal aspects of the House resolution requesting the names of the two members of Congress charged in the Chicago grand jury report with having misused their influence.

Meanwhile, coinciding with his return, his name was brought into the Daugherty investigation press forward his work today with a view to opening the inquiry Tuesday or Wednesday. In line with the committee's policy of maintaining secrecy about its plans, however, no information has been given as to the subject to be investigated first, nor has it been disclosed in what connection any of the witnesses were summoned.

WAR FOR CONTROL OF RADIO BROADCASTING IS UNDER WAY

(By ROBERT T. SMALL.
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
NEW YORK, March 8.—The men of science and the master military minds who predicted that the next war would be in the air, knew what they were talking about. The war in the air and for the air is on. The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has announced that it will spend millions of dollars to assert its control over the patents which in turn control many phases of broadcasting and receiving.

The telephone company claims that already it has spent millions in developing radio-phony and it is entitled to reap the harvest of its investments.

The telephone company also is moving in the patent suits to protect its own stockholders. Recently some of these stockholders have become concerned over the amount of money the company was sinking in its radio experiments and construction.

The stockholders of at least one of the subsidiary companies of the T. & T. have protested over the amount spent in building a big broadcasting station which was furnishing entertainment free to all persons who cared to buy or build a receiving set.

The stockholders wanted to know where the company was to get its return for these side line investments. They felt that money which they should be receiving in dividends was being diverted to the wireless activities.

The suits for injunction begun here to establish the right of the A. T. & T. Company to control the air, are at once the answer to the tens of thousands of telephone stockholders all over the country and an effort to put radio on a purely commercial basis.

The latter phase, naturally is not popular with the several millions of radio fans scattered from one end of the country to the other. They see in the suits an attempt to make them put tribute to a "soulless corporation" the idea being that if the patent suits are successful, every person with a receiving set will be taxed so much a year for its use.

Officials of the telephone company say the principle has been recognized that telephone communication is a natural monopoly. They are convinced they can make out just as good a case to the public with respect to radio.

Monopoly, the radio bugs say, would simply run the game. If all radio users were compelled to tune in every station, the record of all the stations of the pleasure in radio would be gone. The greatest of indoor sports these days is to reach for Montreal one minute and then strive for Havana the next. Radio users keep a precious record of all the stations they have been able to hear. If the use of the radio should degenerate into a condition where you would have the same old "central" always answering the detector and would not be allowed by law to "tune in" anywhere else, radio would become about as much of an amusement as a telephone conversation over an interrupted circuit is today.

Even before the telephone company began its patent suits, there was complaint that its big station here, WEA, was attempting to censor the air.

This charge was leveled against the company principally by officials of the city government. It was said that a city health official wanted to broadcast a talk to the residents of the city. The telephone company said it could not be done as it was bound by an arrangement to broadcast only such talks as might be requested by a certain medical society.

It was partly due to this incident that New York City determined to erect its own broadcasting station. It was easier to plan the station, however, than to erect it. For no sooner were bids asked for than the city found it was to be bound down by all sort of contractual requirements by the companies manufacturing certain essentials of broadcasting apparatus. The city is determined to make

C. W. A. Had a Busy Month in February

The Community Welfare Association spent $1,270.15 in relief of various kinds for various families of this community in need of assistance, a report drawn up for presentation to the executive board which will meet in the quarters of the Association next Tuesday at five o'clock. At the meeting to be held it is expected that an emergency situation caused by the present industrial development will be fully discussed and gone into with a view to meeting its more serious phases as they occur.

This amount spent in relief in February was the largest paid out in the history of the organization. In February last year the amount was $526.92, the records show. The number of families aided by the officers of the organization totaled 197 compared with 145 during the same month last year. The increased, and went very largely to white families, the report shows. Material relief, that is food and other kind of aid, was afforded to 104 families and in 45 cases collateral relief was given—twice as much as February, 1923. Service relief was given to 121 families and in eighty instances the Community Welfare staff co-operated with other social agencies in performing beneficial work. Twenty-nine loads of wood were given to families in need, two tons of coal and 1050 bushels of coke, the report further discloses.

Good Morning Judge!

Sadie McCullin, colored, was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail and fined $51 and costs on a liquor charge in the Police court this morning. George Lowman, charged with creating a disturbance by using threatening language to Martha Hairston, was dismissed. "Mr. Shelhorse" paid the costs of a warrant charging him with assault in connection with running into the machine of J. B. Atkinson. A warrant charging Hugh Jones with assault was dismissed at cost; C. E. Johnson, violating traffic ordinance, dismissed at cost. Statutory charges against Ernest Thomas and Helen Walker were dismissed at cost. Lang Hodnett was fined $21 and costs on a charge of fast and reckless driving.

ORDER AGAINST DEALERS

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Two orders prohibiting wholesale tobacco and cigar dealers' association of dealers from "combining and co-operating for the purpose of maintaining prices" were issued today by the Federal Trade Commission.

The orders were issued against members of the P. Lorillard Company while the second named the Wholesale Tobacco and Cigar Dealers' Association of Philadelphia and the American Tobacco Company.

CALVIN THE RECKLESS

President Coolidge has lost his title to the prefix "Cautious Cal" which some saw fit to give him because of his conservatism and his clam-like tactfulness through the telegram he forwarded on February 12th to Edward B. McLean, the Washington publisher who has become seriously entangled in the naval oil lease investigation. It was little short of reckless for the president of the United States in view of the widening smear from the oil taint to enter into telegraphic communication with a man caught beyond the hope of explanation in a falsehood—one which he himself admitted and which related to the loan he said he made to Albert B. Fall but which he later took back when placed under oath. There may be nothing harmful per se in the exchanges which have been read in the growing record of the investigation but the revelation of such intimacy with McLean following the disclosure which strikes so certainly at the Washington man's integrity is a difficult thing for the nation's chief executive to explain especially when the public temper is aroused and there is little disposition to accept explanations without the proverbial grain of salt. Still more unfortunate was Mr. Slem's mistake—we assume he was—in offering an erroneous explanation for the first telegram.
 The explanation of the previous explanation tends to befool an atmosphere which, to say the least, was murky before it was undertaken.

It now becomes a grave question whether it will be possible to get to the root of the oil evil with figures of national note and renown becoming involved almost every day. Even those brave champions of the public cause who proudly gird on the armor of light and who pose under the halo of political purity are in grave danger of having the props knocked from under them. It takes only a hint or a suggestion of the oil taint to play thunder up in Washington these days.

COOLIDGE'S STRANGE LOGIC

Amazement greets the declaration by President Coolidge against legislation to increase the salaries of postal employees. The president admits it is reported that the requests of the workers are based upon justice and that they should have greater compensation. The president, however, does not think that the country can afford it. American citizens generally will not subscribe to President Cool-idge's idea of what the country can and cannot afford. The postal clerks complain that their wage has not kept pace with the mounting cost of living. They set forth, in effect, that they do not receive a just wage as measured in private employments. If that be true, it is nonsense to say that the country cannot afford to pay them what is just, what their services are worth, and a wage that will compare favorably with standards of compensation in employments demanding equal skill and responsibility.

The United States government is not a charitable institution. It does not have to depend upon the sacrifice of volunteers to get its work done.
 It can afford to pay fairly for everything that it requires. It requires postal service. It can afford to pay fairly for everything that it requires.
 It requires postal service. It can afford to pay its postal employees. But that is not the only side to the picture. In supposing that the government cannot "afford" to pay a decent wage to its 250,000 postal workers,

President Coolidge forgets every primary principle underlying sociology and economics. Underpaid labor in the postoffice is costing business men of the United States now a great sum monthly. And that stands in spite of fine and deserved tributes to the general loyalty and efficiency of the service.

A special committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in a report just made public, submits as its first recommendation that quality and efficiency of service should be the prime consideration in the postoffice department. It finds that "One of the principal causes of delay and irregularity in the handling of the mails is the wide disparity between compensation in the postal service and wages paid by private employers, and consequently inferior service."

Apparently the government cannot afford to pay wages sufficient to assure better postal service, supposes that business men can afford to stand the losses incident to inferior service.

What are the wage standards which have stirred up the waters? The beginning annual wage prevailing today is $1,400, advancing to a maximum of $1,800. It is now proposed to advance the maximum to $2,400.
 These rates compare favorably with standards in competing private employments.

DEPOSITION OF CALIPH CLAIMED ILLEGAL EFFORT

Moslems Are Asked in Manifesto to Hasten to Assembly to Settle Question in Accordance With Law.

(By the Associated Press.)
 LONDON, Mar. 8.—The Egyptian Ulemas (Mohammedan) yesterday issued a manifesto to the Moslem world, says the Morning Post.
 Cairo correspondent, declaring the deposition of the Caliph at Constantinople an illegal attempt by persons who have no voice in the matter and asks the Moslems to hasten to the assembly of a general congress to settle the question of the Caliphate in accordance with law.

The Ulemas affirm that the existence of the Caliphate is as necessary to every true believer as is reason to man in general. They beg the Moslems to defend the Caliphate and see that the settlement of the question does not weaken the prestige of Islam but also warn the faithful against taking any action before the meeting of the proposed congress.
 The Daily Telegraph has received through the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, a dispatch from Jerusalem, declaring it is expected that the Arabs of Palestine and Syria will join in the proclamation of King Hussein of the Hedjaz, as Caliph within the next few days and that great celebrations are being prepared. A conference of the Arab states will open at Kowat on March 15 when the Ulemas of Hussein will be formally proclaimed Caliph of Moslems of the whole Arabian Peninsula.
 The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent remarks that the Turkish government played into the hands of the Ulemas by abolishing the Caliphate at the moment when Hussein, now reconciled with his two crowned sons and nursing the idea of a vast Arab federation, was actually conferring at Amman with delegates of the principal Arab Kingdoms.

SATURDAY
 Belief in Jesus

Read Mr. 7:21-23. Text: 7:24.
 Everyone therefore that heareth
 these words of mine and doeth them shall be likened unto a wise man.
 "In order to believe in Jesus therefore, it is necessary to see first of all what his ideals are and how he proposes to realize them. They stand out in simplicity and clearness in the Gospels.

(1) God is a powerful heavenly Father near at hand; all men should pray to him and work with him for an honest and friendly world.
 (2) Men must work together with inviolable good will for human brotherhood, for a civilization in which every man will wish for all other men such a fair chance at all good things as a man would wish for his brother to have.

(3) Men should with growing conviction count upon an opportunity after death to continue working together for the common good.
 Meditation: Jesus sought to prevent strife in cupid hearts; but his hearers would not only believe but would be gripped by it and inspired to put it into practice in their daily living.
 One who does that, Jesus said, is a wise man.

Personal Question: Are the standards of Jesus practical? Encourage us to "odra" near to them in sincerity and in truth. Save us from a worship of the lips while our hearts are far away. May we have true wisdom to learn his truth and to do they will.
 Amen.

THE OLD HOME TOWN :: BY STANLEY

DRAKES BRANCH, March 8.— (Grapevine) Wireless.—We were

 Club last night (or early this morning), he was trying to get a baby doll for his mother-in-law. We don't know what he had done but he was surely hitting on all fours, trying to stage a come-back. When the gadget finally stopt on the Red Star at the journey's end, Big Boy was as cheery as the chamber of

 merce, and told Jim Osborne this story:

"I recall an incident that happened during my courting days. I'll tell you about it. Never had she allowed me to be more than a friend to her. She had even made me promise never to approach her as a lover.
 But today she was so alluring. Her blond curls fell in golden streams about her shoulders. Her eyes sparkled with a divine gleam. Her ruby lips matched her blushing cheeks. I could stand it no longer.
 I threw my arms about her and crushed her 'til my heart.' She did not resist. I placed a feverish kiss upon her cheek. She said not a word. She only smiled. Passion overcame me. I kissed her full upon the lips and held her in my arms for five precious minutes. And still she smiled. I sighed and placed the picture back in the frame from which I had taken it.

Now, I'm going home and see what
 SHE has for breakfast. Strong."

Tonight's last night and the whistle blows at 12 o'clock. Don't be late. The cooked hams will be distributed at 11 o'clock, the mystic hour when all good Blues think of home and mother. A now don't say we didn't tell yuh about it.

Food Faddists.
 Does your child fuss about his food? If so, take up No. 1. Send 5 cents to the Massachusetts Mental Society, 5 Jay Street, Boston, Mass., for their leaflet on the subject, "Food Faddists."

When you get it, take step No. 2.
 That is, read it carefully.

Then take step No. 3. That is, apply what you have read to yourself, your child and in some small measure, to the food.

In the first place, you may read that it may be your fault or it may be that you do not feed him wisely and decide what is his fault. Under each of these heads there are four sub-heads. One is:

"Is some one else in the family very particular about eating?" Of course, a child likes to imitate what other people do. This ability and desire to imitate starts very early in life. Had I been preparing this charge against the parents, I think I would have added another, "Fickleness is inherited." The children and grandchildren of finicky people are either apt to be finicky or they are apt to train themselves in just the opposite direction.

The third heading is: "Maybe this is a warning that his nervous system is not working normally." Possibly he sleeps poorly, is irritable, or has violent tempers or strange fears.

The fourth heading is: "The child has the effect of the emotions on the appetite and digestion. A child who is angry, fearful, or worried can not digest his food properly. Do not insist that a child eat while he is disturbed by emotions. Get him quiet and then feed him. It is inadvisable to have scenes. It is inadvisable to suggest doubts. A child is quick to refuse if he senses that you expect him to refuse, or fear that he will refuse.
 He is apt to eat what is offered him in a matter-of-fact way.

There are four headings that are based upon hunger for salts, or for food substances, but most of the finicky appetites are the result of emotional instability and wrong habits.

Sweet Potatoes Labeled.
 Mrs. R. K. writes:

1. Will you please advise me if sweet potatoes are harmful to children? Some say they are no heavier than white potatoes; others claim they are, and harmful to children.

2. How about them in the diet of a child 2 years of months old?

I should like to get them before they go to school.

Treating An Eczema Case.
 E. M. C. writes: My 13 months old baby has had eczema since he was 3 months old. His face used to clear up at times, but during the last two or three months he has had it constantly. The doctor said it came from food, but he told him what I fed him, he could not tell how his food had anything to do with it. His meals are as follows:

7:30 a. m.—Cereal, orange juice.
 10:30, nap to 12:30—Potato with carrot, spinach, beans, celery, soup or broiled fish. Every day I give him a different meal.

6 p. m.—Cereal and tapioca, rice pudding or junket.

For lunch he gets a piece of bread and butter and about 4 p. m. he gets one-half glass of milk. Also milk with each meal.

He sleeps from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m.
 Has one bowel movement a day,
 about 8 a. m.

Has had no bottle since 12 months.
 No cream in his milk. He did not scratch his face until lately.

REPLY:
 The best single remedy is the following:

A mixture of two parts each crude coal tar and zinc ointment and 16 parts each cornstarch and petrolatum.
 The crude coal tar and the zinc ointment are rubbed together thoroughly and then put through a sieve. Next, the starch is rubbed in an. Finally, the petrolatum. The mixture should be black. If it is olive green it must not be used. The batch must be thrown away and new ingredients used in making a new lot. The ointment is buttered in the tettered area, but the spot is not covered with a bandage. The next day use olive oil on soft, sterile gauze to remove the oil ointment, after which new ointment is applied. This cures some cases without changing the diet.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, tetter is caused by the diet. The particular food causing it in a given case may be some food that is in common to most children. The diet you are following seems all right, but it is probably wrong somewhere. If the salts does not cure, begin experimenting with the diet.

For one week, leave out all cereals.
 If this proves to be the wrong track,
 try leaving out all milk for one week.
 And so on, until you find the cause.

FORTUNE'S FOOL

By SAMUEL BASATINI

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 Colonel Holles, soldier and adventurer, returns to England, his native land, when war with Holland is declared. It is dangerous for Holles to secure a commission in the English army because the name of Randal Holles, father of the colonel, is on the warrant for the execution of the late king.

His Grace of Buckingham hires
 Holles to abduct the actress, Sylvia Farquharson. It is dark when the colonel carries her off, and when he arrives at the house Buckingham has rented. Holles is horror struck when he sees that Sylvia is an old sweetheart. When the Duke arrives upon the scene the two men engage in a duel. Buckingham calls for his servants and they attack the colonel, who is knocked unconscious.
 Sylvia is a horrified spectator.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 Yet, at the sound of the Duke's voice, gently addressing her, she opened her long closed eyes, and now in deep stains of suffering, and looked at this handsome satyr who stood before her in an attitude of deference that was in itself a mockery.

"Dear Sylvia," he was saying, "I am so sorry my measure pained that you should have been subjected to this
 . . . this unseemly spectacle; I need not protest that it was no part of my intention."

She answered him almost mechi-nically, yet the ironical answer she delivered was true to her proud nature and the histrionic art which would not be denied expression even in the extremity to which she was reduced.

"That, sir, I can well wonder a little at that flash of spirit, from one on her condition. If anything it but served to increase his admiration. He sighed.

She sat now stiffly upright, dissembling her fear behind a mask of indignant scorn that was sincere enough.

"Is anything sacred to such a man as you?" She rose by an effort, and stood before him, swaying, slightly conscious of dizziness and of shivers, and marveling a little that she should be unable better to command herself. But she commanded herself at last sufficiently to give him no more. "Sir, your persecution of me has rendered you loathly and abhorrent in my sight, and nothing that you may now do can alter that.
 And now, sir, I beg you to bid your creatures fetch the chair in which I was brought hither and carry me hence again. I desire to be further from you. Again, I beg that you call to give a strict account of this night's work."

"Let you depart so soon? How can you think it, Sylvia? To have been at such infinite pains to cage you, you lovely bird, merely to let you fly away again!"

"Either you let me depart at once, sir," she told him almost fiercely, her weakness conquered now in her own indignation, "or the town shall ring with your infamy. You have practiced abduction, sir, and you know the penalty. I shall know how to make you pay it. I swear that you shall hang, though you be Duke of two kingdoms."

"Maybe, maybe. But first the charge must be made good. Where are your witnesses? Until you produce them, it will be your word against mine. And the word of an actress, however exalted, is . . . in such matters the word of an actress," he smiled upon her.

"The word of my house," it is named Holles; it was taken by him a few days ago in his own name. It was he who brought you here by force. Well, well, if there must be a scapegoat, perhaps he will do as well as another. And anyhow, he is out-due for the gallows for quite other crimes. He brought me here by force.
 So far, we shall not contradict each other. What follows? How came I here into that man's house? Why, to rescue you, of course, and I stayed to comfort you in your natural distress. The facts will prove my story.
 My groans will swear to it. I will then be seen that in charging me you are scheming adventure, returning evil for good, seeking to profit by my unwary generosity. You smile?
 You think the reputation bestowed upon me by a scandalous popular pulpit will suffice to give that tale
 the lie. I am not of your opinion.
 So far, we shall not contradict each other. Oh, I would take greater risks for you, my dear."

Play at Whitwell
The enthusiastic appreciation which has greeted Westbrook Concert Company at their several appearances during the past winter was accorded them in full measure last night, when they gave a program at Whitwell High school. For far and near the people of Whitwell came to the auditorium of the banner rural school was filled to capacity. Inspired by such an audience, the musicians of the company were at their best and their interpretations were received with sincere applause. The members of the company, John Westbrook, Richard Penn, Thomas Carter and Sam Sours were thoroughly appreciative of the cordial reception given them. The concert was given for the benefit of the Whitwell church piano fund.

To Play in Greensboro
Richard Penn, violinist, has again been invited to play in Westmarket Methodist church, Greensboro, N. C. Mr. Penn has accepted the invitation and will play at the morning service tomorrow.

Gray, Elizabeth Penn, Eleanor Guerant, Margaret Jordan, Mayzie Willis Penn, Mary Temple, Laura Holland, Elizabeth Martin, Mrs. Jeff Penn, Mrs. Eugene Noell.
The guests of honor were given lovely pink satin handkerchief cases and the winner of top score, Mrs. Eugene Noell, a hand-made card table cover. Delicious refreshments were served.

Marriage in Chatham
A marriage of interest to friends in Danville and Reidsville took place in Chatham Wednesday, March 6, at 9 o'clock in the evening, at the home to Rev. Mr. Hartzell, when Mrs. Victoria Gibbons became the bride of James B. Gardner.
The bride is a graduate nurse, having completed her training in Danville General Hospital Training School for Nurses, a few years ago. She is a woman of lovable character and has a host of friends. The groom is a well known merchant and business man of Reidsville, N. C. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, accompanied by friends, motored to Reidsville, where they will make their home.

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN
On Thursday afternoon the home of Miss Thelma Ricketts was the scene of a pretty birthday party, given in honor of her eleventh birthday. The party began at 2 o'clock and lasted until six, numerous friends of Miss Ricketts being present for the occasion. Many games were played during which a beauty contest was held, the prizes being two boxes of candy. After careful consideration judges awarded the prizes to Miss Grace Moore and to Sam Ricketts, a guessing contest was won by Percy Ricketts, the prize, a box of candy. After the games a sumptuous dinner was served, followed by refreshments. Miss Ricketts received numerous pretty presents. Amongst the guests were Grace Moore, Frances Ingram, Mozelle Harris, Thelma Henry, Florence Jones, Cora Rickardson, Thelma Moorefield, Thelma Ricketts, Ballard Barker, Benny Owen Robert Motley, George Motley, Mason Haraway, Carl Jones and Percy Ricketts.

Nervous; Then Try This

By JANE BELLOW
Athletic Director, National Board Y. W. C. A. and Arthur of "Individual Exercises"
Standing with left foot in advance of right foot, relax back, head, arms and knees completely. Swing the body to the right, keeping arms parallel and relaxed. Bring them, with the body, in a circle upward to the right and downward in a circle to the left.
Keep the whole body relaxed during the exercise. Repeat in reverse position, with right foot in advance of left, swinging up to left and down to right.
This exercise relaxes every tight muscle in the body and is excellent for people who have been working under tension or who are naturally nervous and highstrung.

REAPER BEAT STORK IN DANVILLE IN FEBRUARY

The grim reaper beat the story in Danville by four points in the monthly competition, records in the office of the city health department revealed today. Thirty-seven babies arrived in Danville and forty-one persons died during the twenty-nine days of the short month.
The death toll was higher than usual, but Dr. Garnett explained that February and March usually reveal a high death rate everywhere. He explains that the long slebs of winter has usually told on those advanced in years since close confinement in the home lowers the resistance and there is a greater possibility of digestive disorders which, in old people, often pave the way to death. During the open months when people remain out of doors to a larger extent resistance is higher in the human body and it casts off the attacking germs with greater ease.

The causes of death were in February and the number are as follows:
Heart, 4; cancer, 5; nephritis, 2; pneumonia, 1; pulmonary T. E., 6; paralysis, 1; accidental, 1; unknown, 3; whooping cough, 2; diabetes, 2; septicaemia, 1; influenza, 1; cerebral hemorrhage, 1; dysentery, 1; apoplexy, 1; uremia, 1; suicide, 1; burns, 1; cerebral congestion, 1; rupture, 1; fallipian tube, 1; emphysema, 1; still births, 4.
Total, 41.

Births during February were as follows:
James Fletcher Yeaman, 510 Peach St., Opal Wilson Yeaman, Otto Truitt, R. A. Murray, Jefferson St., Kitty Florence Murray.
W. R. Ogg, Danville, Va., R. F. D., 2, Martha Jane Porter Ogg.
John Hugh Hardy, 219 S. Ridge St., Raymond Wilson Hardy.
Fred Scruggs, 430 John St., Nora Lee Scruggs.
Bartholomew Burchett, 707 Claiborne St., Willie Irvin Burchett.
Doris Allen Still, Cascade, Va., Mary Helen Still.
Frank Stuart Hudgins, 828 Stokes St., Frances Elizabeth Hudgins.
George Washington Callahan, 616 Colquhoun St., John Randolph Callahan.

WEDDING MUSIC BY RADIO

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, March 7.—The minister was about to pronounce Otto Truitt, an official of the Illinois Merchants Bank and Miss Georgia Broyley man and wife last night when somebody turned a knob or two and the strains of the wedding march came clear and distinct from a radio loud speaker hidden among the palms. After the ceremony the radio rendered "I Love You Truly."
The music had been arranged for beforehand, being played on the organ by Ralph Emerson, and broadcast from the Drake Hotel station.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

A deed of bargain and sale has been recorded in the office of the clerk of the court showing the purchase by Mary S. Varboro from W. S. Morrison of 50 feet on College avenue for $2,500.

ORDERS WHEAT IMPORT RATES TO BE RAISED

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Putting into operation for the first time the flexible provisions of the tariff act, President Coolidge has ordered increases of 12 cents a bushel in the duty on wheat imports and 26 cents a hundred pounds on wheat flour, advancing these two rates, respectively, to 42 cents and 1.04. At the same time the duty on mill flour has been decreased from 15 per cent, as fixed in the law, to 7 1/2 per cent.
The new rates, established by a proclamation issued yesterday by the president on the basis of information gathered at his direction by the tariff commission, will become effective 30 days from the date of his action and therefore will be operative at the beginning of the usual April flood of wheat imports from Canada.
The wheat rate at present is 30 cents a bushel and that on flour 75 cents a hundred pounds, but the commission found that the Canada "principal supplying country" in the cereal, wheat, could be grown at a cost 42 cents a bushel lower than in the United States and that 100 pounds of flour could be produced for $1.04 less. The difference between the cost of producing mill feeds in the two countries, however, amounted to only three-tenths of one cent a hundred pounds. The new $1.04 rates apply to semolina, crushed or cracked wheat and similar products, as well as flour.

HELPFUL HINTS

TABLE LINEN
When laundering table linen do not put it through the wringer, as it makes creases that are almost impossible to remove.

SLACK CABINET
One of the greatest conveniences for the housekeeper is the sink cabinet, placed directly above the sink where the necessary tools and cleaners are available for any emergency.

FAUCET DISHWASHER
The faucet dishwasher which consists of a length of tubing and a spraying nozzle and soap container is one of the most practical helps in dish washing that has yet been devised.

CRISP CRACKERS.
Cake, crackers, bread and ginger-snaps will retain their crispness and freshness if kept in tin receptacles, but if they are kept in stone jars, they become moist.

WHITE ENAMELWARE
Toilet ware of white enamel is lighter and safer than china for the nursery.

WET TILE FLOOR
Never let water stand on a tile floor as it will destroy the setting. See that it is rubbed dry with a thick cloth after being mopped.

BRICK DUST
Brick dust, made by beating a soft brick to powder, is useful for removing spots on steel, or for polishing copper or pewter.

IRON POTS
Your iron cooking pots are apt to crack if they are allowed to get very hot before water is put in.

WHITE CLOTHES
Your clothes will be much whiter if you add a teaspoon of powdered borax to the water in which they are rinsed.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM KARL WHITNEY TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

MY DEAR LESLIE:
I received tonight from Struble & Struble this morning that you had returned six thousand dollars to my account. I am glad you got out of it so easily.
I want to take occasion now, my dear, to tell you it was very foolish of me to give you that string of pearls on your wedding day in such a secret manner.
At the time I looked upon the gift as something that belonged to you. You see I had been, almost since I can remember (really from the time I was twelve years old), buying them for you, and I had intended to give them to you on your wedding day. You must know, however, that I thought when that time came it would be myself standing beside you at the altar.
When I found you were going to marry Mr. Prescott, my great desire was only to get rid of the pearls. I never wanted to see them again. I was afraid that if I explained to you or your mother all they had meant to me through these years, you would not accept them.
I told this to Alice and she, being just at the romantic age and her friend Betty Stokley trying to write a book, the two of them concocted the plan which we carried into execution.
When I saw them on your throat at the altar I knew I had made a great mistake. I was sorry I had not told the absolute truth and I have been very ever since for I am sure they have given you many an unhappy hour, and I would not have made you unhappy for one minute of your life.
But now that it is all over, yes, Leslie, even my love for you has become just a tender memory and I know now that it was more of the adoration of a boy than the real love of a lifetime.
For Leslie, I have asked your sister Alice to be my wife and she has told me shyly that she has always loved me even as a little girl and that it almost broke her heart to feel that all these years I had made you the Madonna of my dreams, you who had really cared nothing for me.
I think, Leslie, you will agree with me that it was very brave of Alice to arrange for you to have the pearls. In fact, you owe me a great deal of gratitude for them. Instead of an offer I believe the child knew in her soul that she would catch my heart on the rebound.
She generously gave you the pearls which might have been hers, if she had told me that she saw no way of my being able to give them to you. However, all's well that ends well. You will probably be no more troubled by blackmailed than I have been able to get through a much more beautiful string for Alice. So I hope everyone is satisfied.
We are coming home very soon, as of course I am anxious for an early wedding and Alice insists, while it shall be a very quiet one, it must be in her father's house.
She is a wonderful girl, that little sister of yours, Leslie, and you will forgive me, won't you, if I tell you that I am glad you passed me over to marry John Aiden Prescott.
Affectionately, your brother

TOMORROW: Letter from Leslie Prescott to Ruth Ellington—Are men's words new?

BERLENBACH VS. DELANEY
NEW YORK, March 7.—Paul Berlenbach, who has won 23 knockout victories, tonight was signed to meet Jack Delaney, of Providence, R. I., in a 12 round decision fight March 14 at Madison Square Garden.

The match will be substituted for the Moran-Delaney battle scheduled for that date but called off today because of an injury to Moran's hand.

FASHION NOTES

SINGULAR FROCK
A very stunning frock of sand-colored silk has wide sleeves of violet embroidery on sand-colored tulle, gathered into a narrow cuff at the wrist.

KASHA AND TWEEDS
Kasha and imported tweeds are the materials used for the smartest of straightline sport coats with narrow fur collars.

EXTREME IN COLOR
Waistcoats and vests for the plain serge suits go to all lengths in color and vividness.

LEATHER COATS
Coats of very soft, supple leather, usually in gray or tan are worn with wraparound skirts of plain or striped wool.

RED AND HENNA
Spring coats are quite apt to be one color and to be a brilliant one. Bright red and henna are two of the most popular shades.

STRIPES POPULAR
Striped materials are very fashionable for spring and the stripes are manipulated so as to form the trimming in many cases.

Firpo Floors Spalla in 14th With Right to Jaw

WILD BULL OF PAMPAS IS STILL HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP OF SO. AMERICA

(By The Associated Press.)
BUENOS AIRES, Mar. 8.—Luis Firpo is still champion of South America and logical contender for a return bout with the world champion, Jack Dempsey.
Last night the "Wild Bull of the Pampas" turned back the invasion from Italy by knocking out Eraldo Spalla, in the fourteenth round of their fifteen-round fight at the River Plate Football Field. A bare 30,000 persons saw the fight.
The finishing blow, as has been the case in most of Firpo's victories was a tremendous right to the jaw. Firpo used his left, which he is trying to develop, but the two-handed style does not come natural with him and he reverted to his swinging right of the fifth round when Spalla took off the Argentine severely in the twelfth, but Firpo pursued his relentless campaign to the ultimate result. Firpo's poundage was announced as 216½ and Spalla's as 181½.
Despite this difference in weight, Spalla put up a good fight. In the tenth he broke down Firpo's guard and dazed him with a series of punches and lefts to the face, one of which knocked the Argentine off his balance. Following through with his left, Spalla too lost his equilibrium and both men went down in a heap.
Spalla continued his aggressive battle into the thirteenth, punishing Firpo severely, breaking his line and raising the hopes of the thousands of Italians in the crowd who called frantically for a knockout. It seemed indeed in the eleventh he knocked Spalla sprawling against the ropes.
Some thought that Spalla could win, but the "Wild Bull" rushed out of his corner at the beginning of the fourteenth and with a rain of mighty blows hammered down the Italian's guard and ended the fight.

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY ON THE RADIO

(Wherein the noted sport philosopher gets all steamed up about this poetry of motion stuff.)

Well, I suppose you folks read all about the scurvy trick them foreign officials played on the good old U. S. in them Olympic skiing tests when one of our boys leaped away with first place but was dropped back among the also rans because he didn't have no style.
Now I don't know any more about the art of ski-ing—or is it some kind of fancy embroidery?—than a ring-tailed orangutan does about operating a chain saw. If you finish first in anything, and finish there without the aid of a blackjack or Congressional influence, the cut glass trophy and the movie close ups belong to you, no matter if you are as minus of style as wet ashes are of nutrition.
What's style gotta do with superiority, anyhow? Abe Lincoln had about as much style as a New England turnip, but they'll be hanging green around on his monument long after Vernon Castle's name has ceased to give the hired girls in the New Era Hand Laundry a thrill. From what I have been able to observe old man Rockefeller didn't climb to the top of the financial world with a pair of graceful ankles and a full set of parlor gestures, either, and it is only on rare occasions that you ever hear of one of his checks being turned back on account of lack of style.
These European folks are nice enough and all that, but they've got some ideas on sports that are funnier than Eddie Foy in a pink komono. For instance, they used to think Bombardier Wells was a great heavyweight 'cause he went down so BEAUTIFULLY after taking a punch. Take that one and calm it down, mates.
A knockout in any religion and whether you take it with an artistic how or double up like a lead pipe wrapped around a leithander's head is one and the same crime, and boys, be careful when you carry him out.
Imagine what would have happened if they tried to assure the Dempsey-Carpenter ruckus on a basis of poetic rhythm, which is one of those things that American—things that happened to be fresh out of, according to the indictment.
Carpenter came into the ring looking like a cross between a mandolin player and a ballet dancer. Dempsey not only looked rougher than a suspicious wife at 3 a. m., but was, and he hit the gorgeous one with more uncouth left hooks and vulgar right crosses than the eyes could see. Certainly more than the French marquis eyes could see, the same having been closed during the first exchange of gloved courtesies.
Personally, I think style and grace and rhythm and all that sort of popcock is about as valuable as a boot-legger's opinion on the legitimacy of Shakespeare's writings.
Give me the bird with a fine fighting heart and a fair amount of ability and I won't squawk. Maybe he won't look like a Pavlov, doing his stuff, but he'll be out there in front leading the field most of the time, and that's important.
The bookies haven't been schooled much in this poetry of motion idea and until they get over their ignorant ways I imagine they'll keep on paying off on the winners.
(Next week Straight Dope Benny will air his views on Briggs and other forms of mental deficiencies.)

SPORTS GOSSIP

Josh Billings, sent by the St. Louis Browns to the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League, says he is a better catcher than half of the receivers holding down berths in the majors. Now that he is to catch regularly he says he will prove it.

Rumor has it that the management of the Washington club was first offered to Walter Johnson, then Roger Peckinpaugh before Harris was selected. It is said neither of the veterans cared to take up the burden.

Back in 1900, Maxey Long ran the 440 yards straightaway in 47 seconds flat. That was nearly a quarter of a century ago, but even so the record still stands. Down through the years America has seen many great sprinters, but here is one who, which thus far has withstood all assaults. Men like Taylor, Reidsmith, Hall, Meredith, and countless others as good, have been unable to lower the record hung up by Long in 1900. It is one of the oldest existing marks on the athletic books.

The hope of the Cleveland club this year seems to center in two young southpaws, Joe Shaute and Jim Edwards. If they fail to come through, Speaker is going to be hard pressed for pitchers.

Babe Ruth intends to win back his home-run crown if American League pitchers will only take a chance and pitch to him. However, Babe candidly admits it's going to be a tough job breaking his high mark of 59.

PAT MORAN, CINCINNATI MANAGER DIED YESTERDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
ORLANDO, Fla., March 7.—Pat Moran, manager of the Cincinnati baseball team, died at a hospital here after a brief illness at 6 o'clock tonight.

Moran, who had been ill here for several days with kidney and stomach trouble, took a sudden turn for the worse early last night when his condition first was admitted as grave.

His condition remained unchanged throughout the night, but today physicians announced that his life was despaired of. At 4 o'clock this afternoon a conference of attending physicians was held, after which it was announced he could live only an hour or two.

Mrs. Moran and children arrived shortly before his death and went immediately to his bedside. A brother, Tom Moran, left his home in Massachusetts today.

Moran died quietly without regaining consciousness long enough to recognize his wife and children. Jack Hendricks, life long friend and assistant manager, was with Mrs. Moran at the bedside when the end came. Johnny Evers, former National League star, who journeyed here from the Sox training camp, left the bedside a few minutes before his friend died.

According to the attending physician, Moran's lungs gradually filled with poison shutting off his breathing facilities.

Moran's last words, according to Evers, were "Hello, John, take me out of here." He then lost consciousness.

Moran's health began to fail during the winter, but he came South with the Reds in spite of his illness. On Monday the break came and he was taken to a hospital, where it was believed his condition was not serious. Early last night, however, physicians announced that his condition was very grave and today the specialists said only a miracle could save him.

During Moran's illness Hendricks has taken charge of the Red's training, but he spent the entire day today at the bedside for his chief. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Fitchburg, Massachusetts. Moran's birthplace. The body will leave here at 3:10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Moran and her two sons, Ivy Wingo and George Harper, representing the Cincinnati club, will go as far as Jacksonville, where it is planned that Moran's brother will join Mrs. Moran.

DETROITERS GO TO SECOND PLACE IN BOWLING MATCH

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, March 7.—Two Detroit bowlers, Allen and Bauer, rolled into second place in the doubles of the tournament of the American Bowling Congress here today with a total of 1252.

Bauer had 674 while his partner counted 578.

F. Heis, also of Detroit, hit 688 for his eighth place in the singles. He had games of 190, 246 and 223.

FOR THE GAME'S SAKE

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Mar. 8.—MacDonald Smith certainly has come back. Fairly ed with Bill Melhorn, St. Louis, and the San Francisco won the first annual international professional team championship at the Miami country club, defeating Jack Hutchison and Mike Brady in the 36 hole final.

It will be recalled that Smith a few weeks ago won the California open golf championship. This achievement did not cause much remark among those who follow golf casually, but golfers who fire up when a linksmen shakes a fist, or rather a club, in the face of fate paid a great deal of attention to Smith's victory.

And now, teamed up with Bill Melhorn, he has won the greatest honor of the winter.

Remember MacDonald Smith? About ten years ago, Smith was leading up things in the New York metropolitan district and other golfing centers. His improvement for two or three years was steady, brilliant, in south. Every one began to look upon him as a coming national champion.

Then his game began to go back on him. He dropped out of sight. In the course of the war came a report that he was working in a munitions plant. Then he was forgotten. The sad, sad story it was said, of a man who had gone ahead too fast and lost his head.

Later came word from Frisco that he was playing on local courses, that he had married and had got religion. However, that may be, the fact remains that last year Smith and his wife sailed to England for the British open and that the Californian finished two strokes behind Havers, the winner of the match and one stroke behind Walter Hagen, the runner-up. He played fine golf in the National open and golfers all over the country picked up their ears and admitted Smith to the inner fold. Then this winter came the California open and now the Miami laurels. Good for MacDonald Smith.

FORD'S BOAT WON THE MIAMI EVENT

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—Edsel Ford's Nine-Ninety-Nine defeated a fast field in the sweepstakes event for Liberty Class Boats qualifying at 40 miles an hour, this afternoon when she won over Horace Dodge's Musketeer, Webb Jay's Sue J. Howard, Lyon's Baby Cub, E. H. Green's Mary, and Jack Williams' Wilgond.

In the air and water meet here, the Nine-Ninety-Nine, covering 42 miles over a two mile course in 55:23 2-5. The Wilgond was second less than a minute behind and the Mary was third. The Musketeer running well in the first three, was crowded inside one of the buoys by the Wilgond and failed to make up the lost lap. The army won the Royal Palm Bombing trophy when Captain Early Duncan and Lieutenant H. L. Craig, U. S. A., in a Martin bomber, scored the only direct hit in the bombing trials. Four Navy planes, three F-5-L bombers and one HN-2 scout plane completed against the only army entrant to reach Miami for the trials.

Lost! One Ball Player

BY BILLY EVANS
Ball players like their base hits. When in a batting slump they cry for them.

Eliminating a base hit at any time does not meet with favor. Taking away a perfectly good single when a player is in a batting slump is the last straw.

Jim Delahanty, former big league star, who is to try umpiring in the American Association next season, was the central figure in a most amusing incident in a game at Chicago some years back.

Fleider Jones, manager of the Chicago White Sox, had been in a batting slump for weeks. Washington was the opposing team and I rather think Walter Johnson was doing the pitching.

The Washington club took the field, that is eight of them did. Johnson swung up and delivered the ball to Jones, the first batter up in the inning. Jones sent a screeching drive between first and second that carried to the bleachers.

Then an unpleasant discovery was made as far as Jones was concerned. It so happened that Jim Delahanty had been forced to go to the clubhouse to change shoes and the game had been resumed with only eight Washington players in the field.

Of course that made play illegal, and there was nothing for the umpires to do but call Jones back and await the return of Delahanty.

It is easy to imagine how Jones felt, and also not hard to figure out what he said about the umpires who permitted play to be resumed with only eight players in the field.

SHIMKUS-STURGIS BOUT FAST ONE

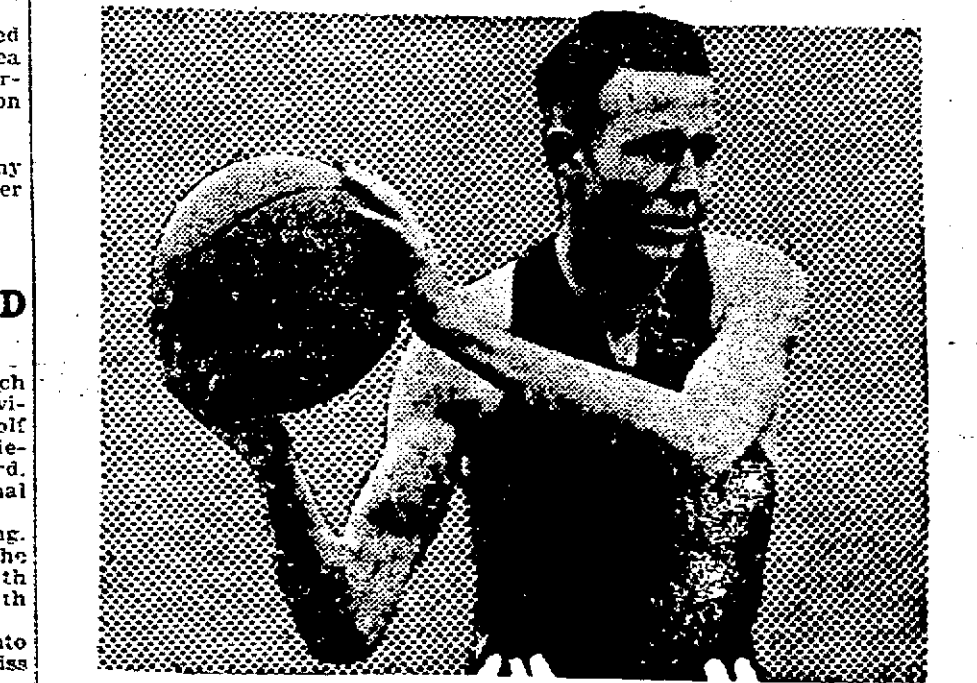

The match between Shimkus and Sturgis at City Hall last night proved to be something on the order of the Shimkus-Smith fracas.

Sturgis got the first fall in 48 minutes with an arm lock. The second went to Shimkus in 22 minutes on a brand new hold to local fans at least. This hold was announced as a "crab" hold but at any rate it appeared to be a mighty effective one. In executing this "crab" thing Joe strained several ligaments in Sturgis' back and the doctors announced that Sturgis would be unable to return to the ring for the third try. For a few moments Sturgis appeared to be partially paralyzed from the effects of the hold.

Shimkus had on him any everybody including Joe, was a little nervous for a few moments but it developed that the strain was nothing of a serious nature, although it incapacitated Sturgis for the remainder of the evening.

While it lasted the bout was fast and full of interest. It was a disappointment to everyone, including Sturgis that he was not able to return and decided he would get the two falls out of three.

MISS COLLETT WON FROM MRS. HURD

(By The Associated Press.)
BELLEAIR HEIGHTS, Fla., March 7.—Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, won the Edleir women's golf championship tournament today defeating Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Merion Cricket, 3 and 2 in the final round.

The match was close and exciting. Miss Collett was one down at the turn but a birdie 3 on the 12th squared the match. She won the 14th also where Mrs. Hurd took 3 putts.

At the short 15th both played into a ditch and lost a stroke each. Miss Collett won the hole with a five.

The match ended on the sixteenth green. The hole measures 540 yards, but Miss Collett was on the green in two and sank the putt for a birdie three, the first three ever known to have been made on this hole. This was the fourth tournament Miss Collett has won in the South this winter. Both Miss Collett and Mrs. Hurd were out in 40 with Mrs. Hurd leading by one hole. Miss Collett's score was 75 and Mrs. Hurd's 84.

TO ADDRESS DANVILLE MEN AT Y. M. C. A.

MAJOR FARRINGTON AND COPY OF HIS CERTIFICATE OF MEMBERSHIP IN THE CUIRASSIER REGIMENT

"Washington and Wilson," (the "A to Z" of Americanism) will be the subject of the address will be delivered by Major Harry Webb Farrington at the Danville Y. M. C. A. Men's meeting Sunday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock.

Older boys who hear Major Farrington at the public schools, and members of the American Legion who heard him at the Memorial Mansion last night, will welcome this opportunity to hear him again.

Many men who have heard their children report enthusiastically on Major Farrington's addresses at the public schools will also welcome this opportunity of hearing this war poet, who is honoring us with a week-end visit.

This morning Major Farrington addressed the students of Randolph-Macon Institute on the subject "Joan of Arc." He urged his hearers to emulate the example of the Maid of Orleans especially along the line of out-door life, idealism and self-sacrifice.

At the men's meeting tomorrow Major Farrington will use some of his own poems which he has not yet used in any of his public addresses in this city. He has also been requested to give "O'er Arm" and "Who won the War," both of these poems having been enthusiastically received by all who have thus far heard them. All men and older boys will be welcomed at the men's meeting and a large attendance is expected.

Too busy to live in the house by the way.

Too happy for such an abode.

And my heart sings its praise to the Master of all.

Who is helping me serve in the road.

REBELS WIN A VICTORY

(By The Associated Press.)

GALVESTON, Texas, March 7.—A battle which has been in progress for four days on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec resulted in a victory for the Mexican rebel troops, according to advices received here today by Adolfo Jimenez, rebel consul.

It was estimated that six thousand men took part on both sides. The fighting took place between Jalisco and El Carmen.

Rains may be protected from lightning by running two or three strands of common barbed wire the length of the ridge and down each end into permanently moist earth.

They came to New York City the next day, it is charged, and were aided in perfecting their plans by Felder and Samuel Rosenblatt, a Chicago attorney, who was sentenced with Glass Casket Company officials prison. Felder, Means and Jarnecke are charged with having promised to obtain from Attorney General Daugherty a letter stating that the stock broker's arrest was an error; to obtain for Saffr, et al., certain business records the government officials had seized, and to enable the brokers to continue selling stock through the mails without further molestation.

In October, 1922, according to indictments, Jarnecke, Saffr and Henry Siedman, one of the brokers since convicted, met in Washington, D. C., to discuss ways and means of conducting the unlawful and felonious conspiracy.

They came to New York City the next day, it is charged, and were aided in perfecting their plans by Felder and Samuel Rosenblatt, a Chicago attorney, who was sentenced with Glass Casket Company officials

Today's indictment charges the trio with having received $55,000 from officers of the Crager System, Inc., and the Glass Casket Company, of Altoona, Pa., of whom 17 since have been sentenced for obtaining $175,000 in an allegedly fake stock promotion conducted through the mails. Those besides Attorney General Daugherty whom the accused are alleged to have promised to bribe include Federal District Attorney Maynard and two of his assistants, John Holley Clark, Jr., and Peter J. McCoy.

The chief complainants against the indicted trio were Samuel Saffr and others of the Crager System and Glass Casket Company, who were sentenced to terms ranging from a day to two and one-half years in federal and county institutions after 49 persons indicted with them had been acquitted of charges against them.

Saffr has not been sent to prison and his conviction is under appeal.

In addition to promising Saffr and his co-conspirators immunity from

WHERE CROSS THE CROWDED WAYS

It is only a half truth the poet has sung

Of the house by the side of the way.

Our Master had neither a house nor a home.

But He walked with the crowd day by day.

And I think when I read of the poet's desire.

That a house by the road would be good.

But service is found in its tenderest form

When we walk with the crowd in the road.

So, I say, let me walk with the men in the road.

Let me speak a kind word of good cheer to the weak.

Who are falling behind in the rush.

There are wounds to be healed, there are breaks we must mend.

There's a cup of cold water to give.

And the man in the road by the side of his friend

Is the man who has learned how to live.

Then tell me no more of the houses by the road.

There is only one place I can live: It's there with the men who are toiling alone.

Who are needing the cheer I can give.

It is pleasant to live in the house by the way.

And befriend as the poet has said: But the Master is adding us, "Bear ye the load."

For your rest waiteth yonder ahead."

I could not remain in the house by the road

And watch as the toilers go on Their faces beclouded with pain and with sin.

So burdened their strength nearly gone.

I'll go to their side, I'll speak in good cheer.

I'll help them to carry their load: And I'll smile at the man in the house by the way.

As I walk with the crowd in the road.

Out there in the road that goes by the house.

Where the poet is singing his song: I'll walk and I'll work midst the heat of the day.

And I'll help fallen brothers along

The Story of the Special Rebuilt Automobile

No. 1.

They Are Different From the Ordinary Used Cars

The history of our special rebuilt car goes back to the time when we purchase it. Before we buy it, we know these three things about it:

The Car Is a Late Model
The Car Has Been Taken Care of The Car Is Good For Several Years of Satisfactory Service

Before Buying Any Car You Should See Our Display Of Special Rebuilt Cars.

The car is then gone over from front to rear. Every part put in practically the same condition as when new. It is then put to a rigid test and if it passes inspection is repainted and fitted with new tires. It is then put in our new and up-to-date Show Room where the buyer can thoroughly inspect it and test it. It is then sold with a GUARANTEE. We then see that the buyer gets satisfactory service from the car.

If you expect to buy a car this spring, mail to us this coupon without any obligation on your part and we will advise you as soon as we have the type of car you want.

To Make The Five-Cent Fare a Success

We will have to carry 27% more passengers.
Figure it for yourself—
When we carry 100 people now about 35 pay a 7c cash fare, and about 65 pay 6c—tokens.
Thirty-five paying 7c yields $2.45, and sixty-five paying 6c yields $3.90, or a total of $6.35 for 100 passengers.
To yield $6.35 at 5c requires 127 passengers, or a 27% increase in the number of passengers to yield the same amount as 100 passengers are now paying.

Well, fellows, the question of what to wear and when to wear it need trouble you no longer. If you want to dress to knock 'em dead, just take a tip from Steve Hannagan, Nea Service and Tye Bee correspondent. Steve sees what's what in the way of clothes as he bowls along Broadway and Fifth avenue. So the other day he went over to just about the toniest clothes shop in New York and put on several outfits to let you get a peep at them.

Today he shows you the newest in business wear. From hat to shoes it cost only $79. And it looks like a million, doesn't it?

The two-button, English-American model, three-piece suit, the product of a prominent ready-to-wear manufacturer retails at $50 and up. It is of light gray material with pin stripes in colors an inch apart.

The coat is cut broad at the shoulders, small at the hips, has well pockets and no vent. The trousers are wide and may be slipped on or off over the shoes. The vest is roll collar.

The gray hat costs $8 and is extremely serviceable. It can be crushed in various shapes to suit fancy of the wearer.

A collar-attached shirt of plain blue material cost only $4 and a gold-plated collar pin $1 holds the patterned silk foulard tie $2 neatly in place.

Plain brogue shoes of pebble-grained, comfortable last, and durable weight are $14.

The only alteration made in any of the outfit was in the length of the trousers.

FRANC BREAK ALL RECORDS

NEW YORK, March 7.—Continuation of the record breaking decline of the French franc today carried the quotation 17 points lower to a new low for all time at 8.76 3-4 cents. The overnight effect of the currency's break through the four cent level brought a fresh flood of selling orders from foreign centers which virtually demoralized the market in the early dealings.

Buying was encountered when the rate touched 377 1-2 cents and temporary recovery took place. The resistance, however, failed to hold and the closing quotations established a new low record.

YOUNG GETS JAIL SENTENCE FOR VIOLATING CONTRACT

STUART, Va., March 7.—W. A. Young was given a ten days jail sentence and $25.00 fine in Judge Clement's court here today for contempt of court for violation of an injunction issued against him at a previous term of the court restraining him from selling tobacco on the open market in violation of the terms of his co-operative contract. On yesterday he was found guilty upon a charge of violation of his co-operative contract by selling tobacco on the open market in a minor name and fined $150.00 liquidated damages and an addition $100.00 for the attorney's fee and all court costs. He had also been convicted last year upon a similar charge. Young, in effect, admitted the violation of the injunction ordered by stating that the tobacco was grown on his land hauled to market by him and that he was on the warehouse floor when it was sold but contended that the tobacco belonged to his son, Tom Young, a minor twenty years of age and that he, W. A. Young, did not get one cent of the purchase price. In ruling Judge Clement stated that no man could come in his court and plead such flimsy excuses for violation of his contract and that if such infractions were to be allowed the contracts and the statute protecting them had as well be thrown in the fire and burned up and that no signer of a contract would be permitted to hide behind his children in violation of its provisions. In passing sentence, the court made it clear that he was giving the defendant the limit permitted under the law and stated that he would send him to jail thirty days if the law allowed it. Young noted an appeal to the Supreme court so far as is known Young is the first contract breaker to receive a jail sentence in Virginia. The case was prosecuted by Mr. H. L. Hooker of Hooker and Sanford, attorneys for the association, and Young was defended by Mr. R. E. Woolwine.

Blood will tell

IN PLANTS, as in people and finely bred cattle, "blood will tell." What the plant will be depends upon what the parent was.

The reason that Ferry's purebred Seeds can be depended upon to produce true to name and type is because they are from ancestors known to be sound and true. At our stock seed farm we have been watching parent and grandparent plants for many generations. Every plant that did not grow true to type was weeded out.

Let this watchfulness on our part be the foundation for your faith in Ferry's purebred Seeds. And what a satisfaction there is to have faith in the seeds you plant—and to have that faith justified by results.

Ferry's purebred Seeds are on sale at "the store around the corner." Make your selections to-day from the familiar Ferry Box.

Write for Ferry's Seed Annual. It is full of garden facts. Get it now before you plant.

FERRY'S purebred SEEDS

FOR BETTER GARDENS

SAYS VOTERS WILL BRING LIQUOR QUIZ

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Special Correspondent to The Bee)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Prohibition is one of the subjects Congress is being urged to include among the investigations it is conducting now or about to start on soon.

That it is a subject which reeks with corruption, wets and dry agree. Drys say politics has corrupted prohibition.

Most drys admit prohibition hasn't worked, but they say it can be made to do so. The wets say it can't.

Two Sides to It
The wets say: Let's show, for the whole country to see, that prohibition has failed, and having done so, end or modify it.

The drys say: Let's find out, by investigation, why the law doesn't work, and fix it so it will. The wets unquestionably do want an investigation. Senator Edwards of New Jersey is demanding one in the Senate. Representative Hill of Maryland, in the House. Nobody doubts that they mean it.

The drys say the same thing. If they could make sure it would be an investigation designed to strengthen prohibition, they'd mean it. But no matter what kind of an investigation is started, they're afraid the wets will turn it into an attack.

Not Afraid of Facts
As Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, says:

"The friends of prohibition are not afraid to face facts, but a dragnet investigation by opponents of enforcement can accomplish no good purpose."

So the drys oppose any investigation at all.

And this Congress is predominantly dry. It certainly will not vote an investigation in either House if it can avoid doing so.

There are some signs that, maybe, it can't.

That is:
Hints from constituents show there are a good many voters who'd cast dry ballots in next election if they thought a dry victory would mean a dry country, but who certainly will vote for modification of the law rather than have things stay the way they are now.

If an investigation is the only way of placating this element and if the dry congressmen decide it is an element strong enough to affect election results seriously, an investigation it will have to be.

So it doesn't come now, it will come before long. Enforcement—or non-enforcement—is too much of a scandal to stay bottled up.

Major Farrington Addresses Legion Post Effectively

The meeting of the Danville post of the American Legion last night was featured by the brilliant and peculiarly interesting address by Major Harry Webb Farrington, an American who served with the French cavalry, a brilliant speaker and a man whose experience and knowledge of war conditions and peace problems eminently fit him to instruct and interest and enlist the enthusiasm of an audience.

The other feature of the meeting was the completion of the preparations for the "D" day membership rally of next Tuesday, whereby it is hoped to place the legion post on a higher standard numerically and in point of its potentialities of important and valuable achievement.

The meeting was held at the Memorial Mansion last night at 8 o'clock. Formal opening exercises were held, these including the singing of "America," prayer by the acting post chaplain, and recitation by the post of the preamble to the American Legion constitution.

Various reports were heard from the committees, the finance committee's report showing the best balance in the treasury for the last year or so.

The Martha Washington Ball committee, through its chairman, C. Conway, made a report showing that the post had cleared $133.65 on the ball. On motion, a rising vote of thanks was extended to this committee and the ladies of the Auxiliary and others who assisted in making it a success.

The post by unanimous consent voted to turn over one-third of this amount to the American Legion Auxiliary for its charity fund, and accordingly a check for $44.55 was then handed to the committee chairman to be presented to the president of the Auxiliary.

The membership committee's report showed a total membership as of March 1st of 282, of which number 150 had been turned in to post headquarters through the efforts of Arch C. Morgan and his friends who had assisted him in securing the members. The remaining 132 were turned in by various members, running from one to 34 members.

The meeting was then turned over to Dr. W. O. Hankins, second vice commander and chief of staff for the "D" day membership campaign, and he immediately called for his adjutant, T. Randolph Perkins, who outlined to the post his idea of the duties of the members and called for volunteers to head the committees. Announcement of the personnel of these committees will be made by him on Monday.

At the close of the meeting the chairman and members of committees met and went over lists of prospects. It is requested that the names of all ex-service men not now in the Legion be mailed at once to T. R. Perkins, Box 483, in order that they may be seen during this campaign. The Danville Post stands an excellent chance of winning the prize offered to Class "C" post—those of over 150 members—and Arch C. Morgan is confident of winning another State Department prize for membership work.

At 9 o'clock the entertainment program was started, and in a few appropriate remarks George F. Edwards introduced Harry Webb Farrington, major and adjutant of the 7th and 10th French cavalry regiments, a former Syracuse University football player, and a poet and lecturer. Mr. Farrington has spoken to over a million children since he left the French army. His talk was received with splendid attention, one overseas man stating: "I could listen to him all night." He referred to the spirit of America and its "Let's Go" attitude, complimented the work of the American Legion, and urged the members forward in the work ahead of them. His talk was interspersed with French phrases which hit soft spots in many of the men, and his recitation of poems he has written proved highly interesting.

Mr. Farrington will speak in the city tomorrow and Sunday, and members of the Danville Post unhesitatingly urge every one who has opportunity to hear him.

Mrs. A. T. Gunn and Mrs. R. F. Moss sang "Whispering Hope," this being followed by solo by John Eanes. Mrs. Gunn next favored the meeting with a piano solo—a melody of war songs—and "Turk" Raine sang a solo in the voice.

The final number on the program was the singing by the members of the post of several of the old camp days favorites, and the meeting adjourned with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the formal closing ceremony.

Attendance prizes, American Legion emblems for auto windshields and stove windows, were awarded to John Costello, R. F. Piller, T. M. Heever, R. R. McGinnis, and Allen S. Clarke, these men drawing the lucky cards.

It was announced that American Legion emblems for windshields would be given to every member securing a new member during the coming drive.

A representative of the Veterans' Bureau was present to take up any matters of compensation, and he can be reached all day Saturday at Hotel Burton. Any men having trouble with their claims for disability are advised to call at Hotel Burton and ask for John T. Costello, representative of the Veterans' Bureau, Roanoke office.

The attendance was exceedingly gratifying in view of the numerous counter-attractions.

Friel Allen Said to Be in Custody Passes Through

Friel Allen, one of the youngest of those who figured in the famous courthouse tragedy at Hillsville, Carroll county, some ten years or more ago, or certainly a man believed to be he, arrived in Danville last night from New Orleans in custody of Police Detective Nowitsky, of Norfolk, en route to that city.

Officer Nowitsky and his prisoner, a tall, rangy young man of apparently 27 or 28 years old wearing steel gloves on his wrists, appeared at the courthouse here last night, and the man in custody spent several hours in jail until the departure of the train at 12:30 A. M. on which he and his custodian boarded a train for the seaport city.

The prisoner was arrested recently in the Crescent city and was held there until extradition papers could be provided and the Virginia city officer could make the journey. He is said to be wanted in Norfolk to face a charge of the theft of an automobile there months ago. The man in custody was known in New Orleans as George Albert and is believed to be the same man arrested some months ago in Kansas City, but who escaped from Officer Allen, of Norfolk, by leaping from a Pullman car berth near Slater, Mo., while the train was running 30 or 35 miles an hour. It is said that the fugitive had hatched a scheme to escape by sewing them up in his clothing and that with one of these he severed the wrist manacles and made his daring getaway.

The same man is said to have been subsequently picked up in Indianapolis on a concealed weapon charge, but, paid $100,000 and disappeared before the Norfolk telegram asking that he be held was received. It was denied at the time of the former arrests that the man in custody then and believed to be the same now on his way to Norfolk was really young Allen, who was pardoned by Governor Trinkle in 1922. Identification of him when he was being sought in and near Norfolk on the automobile theft charge is said to have been made by Police Chief Baker of Suffolk, where young Allen is said to have worked for a time under another name after his release from the penitentiary on a conditional pardon.

It will soon be authoritatively determined whether the man Officer Nowitsky took to Norfolk last night is really Friel Allen, or whether he is the man wanted in Norfolk for the motor-car theft, and then believed to be Allen. The man in custody denies being Allen, but very curiously declined to identify himself, according to the custodian officer. He remarked upon the sudden change in the weather he is experiencing in his transfer from New Orleans into a late Virginia cold spell and seem to be a very philosophic person who accepted the situation almost amiably.

QUITS MARCHING, BUT COXEY, AT 70, FIGHTS ON

JACOB C. COXEY

By NEA Service.
MARTIN, O., March 8.—"General" Jacob C. Coxey, 70, is leading a more "habe armies" on to Washington.

But today, at 70, he is even more belligerent in his fight against the "prevailing money system" than he was in 1894, when he besieged the capital.

He is drafting a bill for the abolition of interest charge on money loans, but, having business and keeps wages low.

Here in Martin, Coxey is considered a successful business man. He is president of a sand company that was established in 1881—also its traveling salesman. Last year he covered 45,000 miles in his river.

PICK TURTLE FOR PAL

MRS. HUGH McCLELLAND AND HER HUSBY, DR. HUGH K. McCLELLAND.

By NEA Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—He may be slow, but the common turtle packs a century's wallop around with him which man can convert for his own rejuvenation.

So says Dr. Hugh K. McClelland, medical authority here. He is 74 years old, but he married on the come-back powers of the lowly tortoise.

"To obtain benefits, one must be in close contact with the aura of influence," he says.

"Probably this could be best obtained by sitting astride a turtle. But of course a difficulty will be experienced at that point since humanity roasts against anything undignified."

Dr. McClelland has prepared a paper on the subject for review by the American Medical Association and gives credit for his theory to Sarah, mentioned in the Bible as having had a son at 107.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Burrill Ruskay, former head of the bankrupt brokerage firm of S. S. Ruskay and company, was found guilty of trading against a customer's account by a jury in general sessions court today.

It will soon be authoritatively determined whether the man Officer Nowitsky took to Norfolk last night is really Friel Allen, or whether he is the man wanted in Norfolk for the motor-car theft, and then believed to be Allen. But today, at 70, he is even more belligerent in his fight against the "prevailing money system" than he was in 1894, when he besieged the capital.

He is drafting a bill for the abolition of interest charge on money loans, but, having business and keeps wages low.

Here in Martin, Coxey is considered a successful business man. He is president of a sand company that was established in 1881—also its traveling salesman. Last year he covered 45,000 miles in his river.

Carnival Closes With This Evening

Last night, the sixth of the Elks' Carnival, measured up to expectations in being the most successful in point of attendance and interest of the entire series, the record crowd thronged the Home last night until after midnight. Tonight will be the finale of the carnival, but it will not be possible to complete the count of votes for the capital prizes being awarded on the number of ballots each of which represents an admission or a dime spent.

The contest for Queen of the Carnival and for first and second maid of honor, together with the award of an automobile, a suite of furniture and other prize will be announced on Monday night at which time the Queen will be crowned and the coronation ball will follow, thus ending the eight days event. Of course, the contestants for these prizes are ladies but those who are in a position to have even an intelligent guess as to the relative standing of the contestants are as communicative as oysters. Meanwhile all the competitors are hustling in the hope of "making assurance double sure" as Will Shakespeare is accused of ungrammatically saying.

Miss Pauline Swartz was the winner of the $10 attendance prize last night. This award, the vaudeville stunts, the dancing, music and "Take a chance" or "Try your luck, boys" diversion held the crowd well and the large attendance made the occasion merrier than usual.

Tonight closes the carnival proper, and no more is required to force the biggest night yet at the wind-up of the show. Meanwhile the Elks are sparing no attention to assure a good time and a satisfactory return on the benefit venture.

MILK CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED

(By The Associated Press.)

HARRISONBURG, Va., March 7.—A resolution advocating the launching of a campaign to make milk "the national drink" was adopted today by the Virginia State Dairymen's Association at the closing session of the two day convention here.

Another resolution urged that the dairymen be consulted in appointments to the State Dairy and Food Commission, asking that "politics" be left out of the selection.

President J. V. Nichols, Purcellville, and other officers of the association were reelected today.

The longest river in the world is the Nile; it is 3678 miles long.

Rocky Mountain National Park was the most visited park in the country in 1922, 219,164 visitors making the pilgrimage.

THE KID WAS CLEVER

LONDON, Mar. 7.—Charged with begging in a London street, a young man with some stage experience was arrested here after he had aroused the pity of everyone who saw him. He had "made-up" his face with theatrical grease paint to make it appear that he had been frozen. Business was fine until a smart bobby "got wise."

LEONARD WOOD, JR., CALLED WASHINGTON, March 7.—Leonard Wood, Jr., was subpoenaed by the Senate Oil Committee tonight after publication of a statement in which he declared that certain oil interests had offered for a consideration to support his father, Major General Leonard Wood, for the Republican presidential nomination in 1920.

According to the story told by Wood the offer was made at the time of the deadlock in the Chicago convention, and was conditioned upon the appointment of the late Jake Hamon, then Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, to the post of secretary of the interior.

Senator Walsh of Montana stated tonight that subpoenas also would be issued for Mrs. John W. German, formerly Clara Smith Hamon, and Jake Hamon, Jr.

The subpoenas for Wood's appearance before the committee is returnable Wednesday, March 12. Committee members indicated his testimony might open up an entirely new field of inquiry.

The sun's surface is 12,000 and its volume 1,300,000 times that of the earth. The force of gravity at the sun's surface is 27 times greater than that at the surface of the earth.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Leonard Wood, Jr., was subpoenaed by the Senate Oil Committee tonight after publication of a statement in which he declared that certain oil interests had offered for a consideration to support his father, Major General Leonard Wood, for the Republican presidential nomination in 1920.

According to the story told by Wood the offer was made at the time of the deadlock in the Chicago convention, and was conditioned upon the appointment of the late Jake Hamon, then Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, to the post of secretary of the interior.

Senator Walsh of Montana stated tonight that subpoenas also would be issued for Mrs. John W. German, formerly Clara Smith Hamon, and Jake Hamon, Jr.

The subpoenas for Wood's appearance before the committee is returnable Wednesday, March 12. Committee members indicated his testimony might open up an entirely new field of inquiry.

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE FROWNED ON BY POLICE

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—Plans to replace all manual telephones in Los Angeles with those of the automatic or dial type are not meeting with police department approval.

"Dialing" a number on an automatic telephone may be more efficient than calling the number to "central" on a manual telephone, according to Chief August Vollmer and detective lieutenants, but in times of emergency the direct connection with a human operator the moment a receiver falls from its hook on the manual phone frequently saves lives or aids in the capture of a criminal.

A child, for instance, they point out, or an adult laboring under great excitement, might be incapable of "dialing", or time to dial might be lacking under the stress of an emergency, yet with the manual telephone such a person might bring police to the scene of trouble by simply uttering a cry for help after taking up the receiver. Frequently the noise of a scuffle, during which the receiver of a manual telephone has been knocked off its hook, has been sufficient to warn "central" and through her to warn the police, it is argued. An automatic telephone, on the other hand, remains deaf to such inarticulate appeals for aid, say the police and demands that very presence of mind which is likely to be wanting in an emergency.

COAL STONEGA COKE

Why Contract for Coal?

Coal peddling is a great business—for the peddler. But its hard on the engineers who must keep up the efficiency of their power plants on coal that they know little or nothing about.

A contract for Admiralty provides your engineer with a fuel that he can bank on to produce a fixed amount of horsepower per ton, and enables you to determine your operating costs accurately.

Admiralty is clean burning, high-quality coal of remarkably uniform quality. Reliable shipments plus stable prices make its use imperative where boiler room efficiency must be maintained.

POINCARÉ NOT TO FIGHT DUEL HE CHALLENGED

(By the Associated Press.)

PARIS, Mar. 8.—Premier Poincaré is not going to fight a duel with Deputy Gaston Le Prestre. De Launay, although there were prospects of such an encounter last evening.

The premier challenged De Launay after an incident in the Chamber of Deputies in which a remark by De Launay was taken by M. Poincaré as a reflection upon him. The second who was immediately appointed, found, however, that the deputies' words had been misunderstood during the heat of debate.

In a speech the premier had referred to an allegation made by Paul De Casagrande that George Mandel had applied to him and M. De Launay to get the support of Prince Napoleon for Mandel if he should be a candidate for parliament from Corsica.

De Launay interrupted M. Poincaré with the shout: "I hope you do not make yourself responsible for such perjury?" It was an incident such as occurs daily in the Chamber and no importance was attached to it at the moment.

The premier, however, appears to have caught only the word: "Perjury" and it enraged him. He called War Minister Maginot and Colonial Minister Sarraut and asked them to second him. He said he had been grossly insulted and that he had no alternative but to demand an explanation or satisfaction from De Launay in accordance with the code of honor.

De Launay referred the ministers to Deputy Boutton and Taittinger. Careful examination of the transcript of the stenographic minutes satisfied the four seconds that there were no grounds for a duel and the incident was declared closed.

NO MURDER AT ALL

LONDON, Mar. 7.—Police thought they had a big crime mystery when they found an urn containing cremated remains in a London cellar. Investigating, however, showed that a previous tenant of the house had been cremated and the urn containing the ashes put in the cellar and forgotten.

Rail Extension Chance In Patrick Now Seems Slim

(Special To The Bee.)

STUART, Va., Mar. 8.—Small hope is now entertained for the extension of the Danville and Western railway by a narrow gauge railway, eight miles beyond Stuart to the timber tract recently purchased by the Meadowfield Lumber company.

Agents for the lumber company secured rights of way willingly from all property owners on the intervening stretch with the exception of T. J. George and his father, R. W. George, of Stokes county, N. C., who are reported to have declined to afford the corporation any right of way privileges. This apparently has blocked the extension project and the agents of the lumber corporation have packed up and gone to Mt. Airy, N. C., where they have been assured no difficulty will be placed in the way of extending the railway line which terminates at that point which makes a junction in North Carolina with the Southern.

Representatives of the corporation are said to have stated a preference to ship their lumber through Stuart, but cannot find it possible to do so so long as rights of way are held up. It is understood that the failure means the loss to Stuart of a planing mill, a band mill, pulp mill and extract plant which together would have given employment to probably 250 people.

Some resentment is heard about the streets and it is likely that efforts will be made here privately to redeem the situation.

Rockingham Man Quickly Follows Wife to Grave

(Special To The Bee.)

REIDSVILLE, N. C., March 8.—J. C. Amos, a widely-known Rockingham county farmer, living two and a half miles south of here, died early this morning from double pneumonia from which he had been suffering for the past ten days. He was well advanced in years. A tragic circumstance in connection with his death is the fact that his wife died suddenly about three weeks ago.

He is survived by four sons and three daughters.

The REFEREE

BY ALBERT APPLE.

WHY?

Why do unpleasant stories attract more attention than pleasant ones? Why, for instance, does the thief have a big audience in fiction or the news, while an honest man is usually ignored?

Asked these questions, William Allen White says he doesn't know. A surprising answer, for a veteran editor.

"Unpleasant" stories, notably crime, get attention because they are the exceptions. One man with a dagger or pistol arrests the attention of the 108 million Americans who are not murderers. The unusual in fiction is the spotlight getter. Most people are reasonably decent, law-abiding and honest—so much so that the exception excites general curiosity.

GAMBLING

The securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange now total over 58 million dollars. These stocks and bonds represent property, organizations and business activity. To the average patron of stock exchanges, the present money chips in a gambling game—a game in which a fourth of our entire national wealth is in the "pot."

FORGERS

Forgers cause the nation a yearly loss of at least 50 million dollars, claims a bonding company. It's an old story. You read it year after year.

Meantime, the nation spends several times 50 million dollars to protect itself against forgery. Is the game worth the candle? It certainly is. Without this expensive vigilance forgers would be many times as big as now. Protection always is expensive, and nearly always it is worth the cost, times over.

PACIFIC FLEET SAILORS HAVING GREAT TIME IN NEW YORK CITY

BY ROWLAND WOOD

NEW YORK, Mar. 8.—Time was when New York, all fed up on novels and movies, imagined that all sheikhs lived in the desert and had turbans and swart skins and ardent dispositions. Then it discovered that there were some sheikhs in the flesh of its own. These it promptly gathered to its bosom and labeled "asphalt sheikhs."

This week it has discovered a brand new "class" sheikhs of the ocean. The "find" is about 14,000 strong, and it rode into port on the ten-super dreadnaughts that make up the backbone of the Pacific battle fleet. "A sweetheart in every port" has long been the middle of the gob, but it remained for this present lot of sailors to revise the phrase to read: "A flock of sweethearts in every port."

The reason? "Prohibition" promptly answered Lieutenant Commander M. L. Deyo, flag secretary of the fleet. "In the old days," he explained, "the sailor's motto ashore was 'wine, women and song.' Then came prohibition. Stationed as the Pacific Fleet has been at San Pedro, the men couldn't get much to drink. All the good stuff was going to Hollywood and the rest of Los Angeles. They had to have something to take the place of wine, so they concentrated on sheikhs."

The flag secretary's boast was justified. For the men of the Pacific battle fleet, now engaged in a concerted assault on the hearts of New York girls, are perhaps the finest looking batch of sailors that ever made port here. The fact that they are sport brand new peajackets—something they don't wear in the home climate—may have something to do with it. But above the new peajackets are the clearest of eyes and the cleanest cut of faces.

And there has been less of rowdiness and drunkenness than New York has known in any similar gob invasion for years. Some of them, doubtless, are assuaging a long thirst at hospitable bars, but you'd have to do a lot of hunting to find a blue jacket with a shipboard roll to his gait. Apparently the old type gob of lurid reputation is "out." The new type is pictured in this little incident that happened on the West 96th street waterfront, where hundreds of sailors were swarming ashore for their 24-hours liberty.

A young man stepped up to one of the sailors, laid a hand on his arm and whispered something in his ear. The gob promptly knocked him down. "That big stiff," he exclaimed to his mates. "He wanted to sell rum."

Riverside Drive, where the girls promenade when warships are lying in the Hudson, is one of the principal stamping grounds of the shore leave tars. But instead of heading with the girls for cafes and cabarets, as in the old days, they head for the White Way or go sight-seeing on the busses. Sixty per cent. of the 14,000 men here have never seen New York before. The Pacific Fleet hasn't been in these waters for five years, and in that time its personnel has changed greatly. For the most of the men it's a grand new adventure and they aren't wasting a moment of it.

Two Liquor Hauls Made Near Stuart

(Special To The Bee.)

STUART, Va., Mar. 8.—Three automobiles, 124 gallons of liquor, three men and two women have been captured in this vicinity during the past few days by local officers. One of the cars was a Dodge which was found on the Critz road. The driver of the machine made his escape. The other two cars captured where Ford machines which were found to have 124 gallons of liquor in them. The men arrested were Joe Newton, A. G. Powell, and George S. Smith of Leaksville, N. C. The names of the two women have not been divulged but they are being held here to give evidence against their male companions. It is expected that the cases will be promptly disposed of. Nine cars are held here for forfeiture proceedings and will be sold at auction.
